Favor Schwenk On GOP Ticket

The name of John J. Schwenk is back in the political limelight today as the possible favorite of Republicans to get the alderman-at-large nomination at the party's unofficial city convention Monday night, July 18.

Mr. Schwenk, now serving as president of the Kingston Water Board, formerly held the post under two mayors, and his record in public life prompted party members to seek him out to run for the office held for five and a half years by Joseph Kelly.

When Mr. Kelly recently announced that he would not seek reelection, Mr. Schwenk's name was one of the first considered for nomination. There was great enthusiasm in GOP ranks, it is reported, when he consented to accept the nomination if his name were proposed at the convention a week from Monday at 8 p. m. in the Ulster County Courthouse, Wall street.

RELATIVE to nomination Mr. Schwenk was highly complimentary about the progressive administration of Mayor Stang, and said he would consider it a privilege to be his running mate. Mayor Stang is considered the Republican party's unanimous choice to succeed himself.

Mr. Kelly gave business reasons for stepping out of the political field as a candidate, stressing that he desired to devote all his time to being city editor of The Freeman, the post to which he recently was promoted.

MR. SCHWENK has been closely identified with civic life for almost a quarter century, and the time, thought and energy he has given the community is considered a fine record of public service. As a member of the water board, Mr. Schwenk was one of the moving forces in recent improvements completed with a $540,000 bond issue.

Water pressure was increased in the 12th ward, and in the area around the Benedictine Hospital, old pipelines were replaced, and the water station at Binnewater was modernized.

Mr. Schwenk was appointed a member of the water board in 1949 by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, and was reappointed by Mayor Stang in 1954. He was elected president of the board this year.

A resident of 152 Foxhall avenue, Mr. Schwenk entered public life as alderman of the Third ward in 1931. He was reelected in 1933 and in January 1934 was voted in as alderman at large by the Common Council to succeed Conrad J. Heiselman, (R) who became mayor when Harry B. Walker (R) resigned for health reasons.

In 1935, Mr. Schwenk was elected by the people to succeed himself, polling one of the largest pluralities ever recorded up to that time. Increasing pluralities followed in successive elections until he retired in 1947.

His service extended through the terms of Mayors Heiselman and William F. Edelmuth (D).

Keynoter Wicks Lauds County, City Progress

In his keynote speech opening the Republican county convention today at the Municipal Auditorium, Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Ulster County Republican leader, reviewed briefly the record of the Republican Party in the nation, in Ulster county and in the City of Kingston.

The main business before the convention, which opened at 11 o'clock, was the selection of candidates for the offices of county judge, district attorney and county treasurer. At press time the nominating speeches were not completed, but it was expected that Louis G. Bruhn would receive the nomination for county judge, Howard C. St. John for the office of district attorney and Albert N. Cook for county treasurer. No contests were anticipated.

Following is the speech of Senator Wicks:

IN THIS YEAR of unprecedented prosperity and good times, with prospects for world peace greatly improved, and with the knowledge that the future of Ulster county and its people shines brightly, we Republicans of Ulster county meet today in convention assembled to select candidates for public office for recommendation to the enrolled Republicans of our county.

As Republicans, it is gratifying to know that our prosperity and the easing of world tensions are the result of the wise policies of President Eisenhower and the Republican national administration.

AT NO TIME in our nation's history have wages been so high nor have jobs been so plentiful. Never before in the history of the world has any nation produced the tremendous volume of goods and services that came off the production lines of the United States during the first six months of 1955. Production is at an all-time peak. Retail sales have broken all records.

This business activity, this prosperity, this good fortune for the American people did not just happen. They have been the result of the wise and judicious policies of the Republican administration in Washington.

So, let us rejoice today that we are Republicans; that our party has again proved to the nation that Republicans can produce jobs, prosperity and plenty for all during peace-time and that we Republicans do not need a war to create jobs, good wages and booming business.

HERE IN ULSTER COUNTY, our Republican party is known and recognized as the party of vision, of progress, of action and of service.

We are noted for giving the people the kind of service they want and expect and at a cost they can afford to pay.

One of our county's most important functions is the preservation of health of its citizens.

The Ulster County Department of Health is dedicated to a broad program of health services for all county residents. This includes supervision of public water supplies and sewage treatment plants; inspection of dairies and milk plants; meat and restaurant inspection and rabies control. Our engineers and sanitarians have a special problem each summer in supervising the health needs of nearly 50,000 vacationers who populate 1400 camps and resorts in our county. At one time, outbreaks of typhoid fever and food poisoning were common in our resort population. A continuous program of inspection and health education has made these diseases rare and we have had no significant trouble during the past seven years. This protects the health of our summer guests and our own health as well. It protects our resort industry which provides employment and creates business.

A STAFF OF 18 public health nurses maintains a program of health services for residents of all ages. Working closely with the family physician, the public health nurse aids the mothers of newborn infants; visits and cares for the acutely and chronically ill; aids in finding new cases of tuberculosis and cancer and serves with the physician in chest X-ray and orthopedic clinics sponsored by the health department. Public health nurses also serve as school nurses in about half of the county's schools.

The tuberculosis death rate in Ulster county has declined 44 per cent in 15 years. The new Salk polio vaccine, which has been given to more than 5,000 Ulster county children may be the beginning of the end of that dread disease.

RAPIDLY GROWING housing developments pose problems in sanitation and water supply. Our health department has

Sees Point Vital For Parley Talks

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said today he will fight to restore in the Senate a House committee's 50 per cent cut in a special Asian aid fund asked by President Eisenhower.

The House Appropriations Committee, cutting 20 per cent from the President's foreign aid requests, sliced in half the 200 million dollars asked for the Asian Economic Development Fund. The committee said that not more than 100 million dollars would be used anyhow during the first year.

BUT SMITH SAID in an interview that it was "most important" that President Eisenhower go to the July 18 Geneva conference "leading from strength."

The full 200 million dollar fund, he said, would be a major indication that the United States is unselfishly and seriously intent on building up the economies of the under-developed nations of Asia.

SMITH, A SENIOR member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also criticized what he called a "dangerous" reduction of 420 million dollars in the President's $1,125,000,000 request for direct military aid to U. S. cold war allies.

The House has yet to act on the committee recommendations, but indications were the $2,638,741,750 money bill to finance another year of global aid would go through substantially unchanged from the committee's own version. The House is to take the bill up Monday.

Sen. Mansfield (D.-Mont), also a Foreign Relations committeeman, said in a separate interview his only disagreement with the House Committee's big reduction in the military hardware item was a "feeling" the economy knife had not struck deep enough.

MANSFIELD HAD criticized the Defense Department early this week for committing 614 million dollars of past military aid funds on the last day of the fiscal year—June 30—in order to keep that amount available

Lines, Cycle Patrol Arranged for Bypass

Painting of white traffic lines on East Chester street, from Broadway to the city line, will begin on Monday in an effort to reduce traffic hazards and cut down speeding, Mayor Frederick H. Stang announced today.

The mayor, in making the announcement, said that a motorcycle patrolman would be assigned to the street daily, and he solicited the cooperation of motorists in abiding by the traffic lines.

"WE ARE GOING to try it with a motorcycle patrolman," the mayor said, "and if that doesn't work we will install electronic devices to catch speeders." The mayor's reference was to radar spotters which detect speeding and which are used on some parkways.

Mayor Stang said he and Police Chief Raymond A. Van Buren had decided on the painting of traffic lines at the suggestion of Alderman Joseph Wenzel of the Fourth Ward who had reported complaints of speeding from people living on East Chester street.

The mayor said he had personally received complaints from people on the street about speeding and traffic hazards.

One Admits Beaming Signal

Two Held in Ship Distress Mystery

Woodmere, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Two youths were held early today as police unraveled the mystery of the fishing boat Blue Star.

An SOS signal, purportedly coming from the vessel, sent Coast Guard rescue craft on a $50,000 search of the Atlantic early Thursday morning.

Nasau county police said one of the youths, a 21-year-old former crewman on a commercial fishing boat, admitted that he beamed the phoney distress signal to show his 17-year-old pal how a "real radio works."

THE OLDER YOUTH was identified as Thomas Maldona, of (10 Front street) East Rockaway, N. Y., laid off six weeks ago from the fishing boat St. Joseph.

His companion was George Teen, of (129 Anchor avenue) Oceanside, N. Y.

Police said the youths, who broke into the radio shack of the St. Joseph, were charged

Dispute Is Settled on Expulsions

U. S. Accepts Red Action on Aides

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The United States has quietly settled its latest diplomatic dispute with Russia over three American army officers expelled from the Soviet Union.

The State Department, apparently to keep the incident from disturbing prospects for the Big Four summit conference, has accepted Russia's right to order the three embassy aides out of the country.

THREE REPLACEMENTS for the men, all assistant army attaches, will be named, however, with the expectation Russia will agree to accredit them for the American embassy in Moscow.

The name of one of the men has already gone forward for approval, it was learned, but informants did not disclose his name.

The whole incident and its aftermath have been handled without publicity, obviously in an effort to keep the affair from mushrooming into a major disagreement at this time. The State Department confirmed the incident only after details had become known.

INFORMED officials disclosed last June 17 that Russia had banned the trio, declaring them "persona non grata," or persons unacceptable to the Soviet

Phone Rehearing Up to Court

Will Determine Fate Of Increase Attempt

Albany, July 9 (AP)—The state's highest tribunal has taken on the job of deciding whether the New York Telephone Co. should be given another hearing on its request for an increase of $68,850,000 a year in rates.

The Court of Appeals yesterday, clearing its calendar for summer recess, also upheld the first-degree murder convictions of two New York city men and set dates for their executions in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison.

THE COURT DECIDED 83 cases and ruled on 61 motions and adjourned to Oct. 3.

It decided that:

The seven-man court granted the request of the Public Service Commission to appeal an order by the Appellate Division directing the commission to reopen hearings on the utility's rate request. The PSC rejected it last August.

Senator Is Indicted on State Deal

Texas Democrat Denies Charge

Seguin, Tex., July 9 (AP)—Rep. John J. Bell (D-Tex.), who helped set up the Texas veterans land program when he was in the state Legislature, was indicted yesterday on charges of conspiring to steal $154,810 from the state in that program.

He immediately denied guilt. He made the same denial when questioned by a state investigating committee earlier. The freshman congressman said he received some legal fees and that was all.

INDICTED WITH him was T. J. McLarty of Denver, Colo., and formerly of Cuero, Tex., Bell's home town, and J. T. Wofford of Cuero.

It was from McLarty, Bell said in the state investigation, that he received the legal fees. McLarty was indicted in May on other counts connected with veterans land deals.

The indictments against the three involve deals in July 1952 in which 3,701.4 acres of Guadalupe county land were sold to 24 veterans.

THE INDICTMENT reads: "T. J. McLarty, John J. Bell and T. J. Wofford on or about the 15th day of July, 1952, did then and unlawfully conspire . . . to unlawfully and fraudulently take $154,810 (from) . . . the State of Texas . . . "

The land scandal investigations began less than a year ago. Already 318 indictments have been returned, ranging from bribery to false certification of documents.

BASCOM GILES, former land commissioner and once head of the veterans land board, currently is on trial on charges of $6,800 theft. He is indicted on a $30,000 bribery charge. He refused to take office last January, although reelected as land commissioner and automatically a member of the Veterans Land Board.

Most indictments involve block land sales. In this type, promoters buy a large ranch or farm and divide it. These smaller pieces are sold to veterans on long terms, low interest and small down payment. The state then pays the promoter and the veterans pay the state.

Claims have been made that excessive profits were collected and that high-pressure salesmen talked veterans into signing papers without the veteran knowing what the papers concerned. Some veterans have testified they thought they were applying for a veterans' bonus.

Battle Looms On Selection Of Democrat

Washington, July 9 (AP)—A split among New York leaders added today to growing signs that the Democrats may be in for a battle over their 1956 presidential nomination.

Sen. Lehman (D.-N.Y.) was said by aides to be sticking solidly behind former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois as his candidate for the nomination, despite a state organization lineup for Gov. Averell Harriman.

LEHMAN'S STAND aligned him with Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York city, who said on his return from a European trip Thursday that Stevenson remains his choice.

Schenectady Man Is Held On Charges

Alfred Joseph Kelleman, 32, of 2924 Ford avenue, Schenectady, was arrested early today on three charges after police said he hit a parked car at 59 West Chester street. In City Court today, the case was adjourned until July 16 to permit Kelleman to obtain counsel.

POLICE REPORTED at 2:40 a. m., today, that they received a call from a woman on West Chestnut street, that a car had just hit a parked vehicle and the driver was attempting to take off.

Fighting Underway in Laos

Nationals Regain Several Positions

Saigon, South Viet Nam, July 9 (AP)—The Laotian government announced today that violent fighting was underway in mountainous northern Laos between government troops and units of the Communist-inspired Pathet Lao movement.

(Reports reaching Paris today from Vientiane, capital of the little Indochinese kingdom, said National forces in an all night battle succeeded in winning back "several" positions taken by the Laotian dissidents.

(These reports, quoting highly placed sources, said the Pathet Lao units were withdrawing toward Communist ruled North Viet Nam, about 60 miles east.)

A Laotian communique, published by Vietnamese newspapers here, said the battle was in the Moung Peun area, 25 miles south of Sam Neua. It accused the Pathet Lao of defying the Geneva armistice ending the Indochina war and a declaration signed last March agreeing to end hostilities and provocations.

The communique described the attacks against National army positions as "the most violent registered since the armi-

British See Propaganda Move

Transit Permits Out For 3 War Prisoners

Hong Kong, July 9 (AP)—Hong Kong authorities today accused Chinese Communist officials of attempting to pull a fast one in demanding transit permits for three turncoat Americans who want to leave Red China.

Announcing that such permits had not and would not be issued, a government spokesman said the unexpected demand "undoubtedly was a propaganda move" aimed at pressuring U. S. and British authorities into allowing the men to enter Hong Kong illegally.

A government statement issued shortly afterward said the British charge d'affaires in Peiping had been authorized to inform the Chinese Red Cross society that the men would be admitted to Hong Kong.

This was interpreted as meaning that they would be allowed to enter as undocumented aliens, the status of most European refugees returning from Red China. There was no indication whether this would satisfy Peiping authorities.

The announcement said the formal authorization for their entry had not previously been given "because of the necessity for consultations with authorities in London and Washington."

As undocumented aliens, they would be turned over immedi-

At one time, outbreaks of typhoid fever and food poisoning were common in our resort population. A continuous program of inspection and health education has made these diseases rare and we have had no significant trouble during the past seven years. This protects the health of our summer guests and our own health as well. It protects our resort industry which provides employment and creates business.

A STAFF OF 18 public health nurses maintains a program of health services for residents of all ages. Working closely with the family physician, the public health nurse aids the mothers of newborn infants; visits and cares for the acutely and chronically ill; aids in finding new cases of tuberculosis and cancer and serves with the physician in chest X-ray and orthopedic clinics sponsored by the health department. Public health nurses also serve as school nurses in about half of the county's schools.

The tuberculosis death rate in Ulster county has declined 44 per cent in 15 years. The new Salk polio vaccine, which has been given to more than 5,000 Ulster county children may be the beginning of the end of that dread disease.

RAPIDLY GROWING housing developments pose problems in sanitation and water supply. Our health department has

Senator Is Indicted on State Deal

Texas Democrat Denies Charge

Seguin, Tex., July 9 (AP)—Rep. John J. Bell (D-Tex.), who helped set up the Texas veterans land program when he was in the state Legislature, was indicted yesterday on charges of conspiring to steal $154,810 from the state in that program.

He immediately denied guilt. He made the same denial when questioned by a state investigating committee earlier. The freshman congressman said he received some legal fees and that was all.

INDICTED WITH him was T. J. McLarty of Denver, Colo., and formerly of Cuero, Tex., Bell's home town, and J. T. Wofford of Cuero.

It was from McLarty, Bell said in the state investigation, that he received the legal fees. McLarty was indicted in May on other counts connected with veterans land deals.

The indictments against the three involve deals in July 1952 in which 3,701.4 acres of Guadalupe county land were sold to 24 veterans.

THE INDICTMENT reads: "T. J. McLarty, John J. Bell and T. J. Wofford on or about the 15th day of July, 1952, did then and unlawfully conspire . . . to unlawfully and fraudulently take $154,810 (from) . . . the State of Texas . . ."

The land scandal investigations began less than a year ago. Already 318 indictments have been returned, ranging from bribery to false certification of documents.

BASCOM GILES, former land commissioner and once head of the veterans land board, currently is on trial on charges of $6,800 theft. He is indicted on a $30,000 bribery charge. He refused to take office last January, although reelected as land commissioner and automatically a member of the Veterans Land Board.

Most indictments involve block land sales. In this type, promoters buy a large ranch or farm and divide it. These smaller pieces are sold to veterans on long terms, low interest and small down payment. The state then pays the promoter and the veterans pay the state.

Claims have been made that excessive profits were collected and that high-pressure salesmen talked veterans into signing papers without the veteran knowing what the papers concerned. Some veterans have testified they thought they were applying for a veterans' bonus.

COOLING OFF AT KINGSTON POINT BEACH—This throng of happy adults and children gets relief from the season's sweltering heat at Kingston Point Beach, which Mayor Frederick H. Stang opened last summer through the courtesy of G. V. D. Hutton, brick manufacturer, owner of the recreation spot that had been closed for years. Crowds have been reported as high as 8,000 a day by the Kingston Recreation Department. (Freeman photo).

British See Propaganda Move

Transit Permits Out For 3 War Prisoners

Hong Kong, July 9 (AP)—Hong Kong authorities today accused Chinese Communist officials of attempting to pull a fast one in demanding transit permits for three turncoat Americans who want to leave Red China.

Announcing that such permits had not and would not be issued, a government spokesman said the unexpected demand "undoubtedly was a propaganda move" aimed at pressuring U. S. and British authorities into allowing the men to enter Hong Kong illegally.

A government statement issued shortly afterward said the British charge d'affaires in Peiping had been authorized to inform the Chinese Red Cross society that the men would be admitted to Hong Kong.

This was interpreted as meaning that they would be allowed to enter as undocumented aliens, the status of most European refugees returning from Red China. There was no indication whether this would satisfy Peiping authorities.

The announcement said the formal authorization for their entry had not previously been given "because of the necessity for consultations with authorities in London and Washington."

As undocumented aliens, they would be turned over immedi-

Run But No Hit

Grand Rapids, Mich. (AP)—Police learned the power of a woman scorned, but they won't tell her name. Her boy friend won't prosecute. Someone reported a hit-and-run accident. A young woman was lying in the street. Questioning disclosed it wasn't a hit-run case, exactly. She had followed her boy friend, who drove another young woman home in his convertible. While he was saying good night to the other woman, No. 1 picked up rocks and smashed the lights, windows and instrument panel of his car. As he returned, she grabbed the convertible top and began ripping away. He drove off while she was still ripping. She was knocked down.

Dying for a Cause

Our word "martyr," one who dies for a cause, formerly meant "witness" and gained its present meaning when many early Christians "testified" to their conviction by dying for them.

Presbyterians To Hear Guest

The speaker in the service of worship Sunday at 10 a. m., in the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, will be Ruling Elder Casper Souers of the Church Session. He was one of two elected Elder Commissioners from North River Presbytery to the 167th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the USA at Los Angeles last May, from which he and Mrs. Souers returned two weeks ago.

Mr. Souers' message will be an interesting and factual presentation of his extensive traveling and general assembly experiences, on which he will also report to Presbytery in October. Covering more than 10,000 miles by auto, Mr. and Mrs. Souers visited relatives in Nebraska, California and Washington and saw most of the famous canyons, dams and national parks; and visited two denominational enterprises, the Ganado Mission in Arizona and the Menaul School in New Mexico.

For the musical program of the service, which will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. William J. McVey, the following numbers have been arranged under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director: organ prelude, "Evening Song" by Schumann; anthem by the senior choir, "When Jesus Walked in Galilee' by Edwards; solo, "Just For Today" by Seaver, to be sung by Mrs. George Wert, soprano; and organ postlude, "Postlude" by Bach. Run But No Hit

Grand Rapids, Mich. (AP)—Police learned the power of a woman scorned, but they won't tell her name. Her boy friend won't prosecute. Someone reported a hit-and-run accident. A young woman was lying in the street. Questioning disclosed it wasn't a hit-run case, exactly. She had followed her boy friend, who drove another young woman home in his convertible. While he was saying good night to the other woman, No. 1 picked up rocks and smashed the lights, windows and instrument panel of his car. As he returned, she grabbed the convertible top and began ripping away. He drove off while she was still ripping. She was knocked down.

By Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer

Director of Interreligious Services for the American Jewish Committee

What is a Jew?

It is difficult to find a single definition. A Jew is one who accepts the faith of Judaism. That is the religious definition.

A Jew is one who, without formal religious affiliations, regards the teachings of Judaism —its ethics, its folkways, its literature—as his own. That is the cultural definition of a Jew.

A Jew is one who considers himself a Jew or is so regarded by his community. That is the "practical" definition of a Jew.

Prof. Mordecai Kaplan calls Judaism "a civilization." Jews share a common history, common prayer, a vast literature and, above all, a common moral and spiritual purpose. Judaism is really a way of life.

What are the principal tenets of Judaism?

Judaism holds that man most genuinely worship God by imitating those qualities that are godly. As God is merciful, so must we be compassionate; as God is just, so must we deal justly with our neighbor; as God is slow to anger, so must we be tolerant.

Some 1800 years ago, one of our sages taught: "He who is beloved of his fellow men is beloved of God." To worship God is to love the works of His hands.

The Jewish prayer book speaks of three basic principles of faith:

1. The love of learning. As long ago as the first century, Jews had a system of compulsory education. The education of the poor and the fatherless was a responsibility of the Jewish community, as well as of the family. And the ancient rabbis knew something about the psychology of learning. On the first day of school, youngsters were fed honey cakes shaped in the letters of the alphabet, so that they would associate learning with sweetness.

2. The worship of God. From their earliest childhood, Jews are taught that He is to be worshiped out of love, not out of fear.

3. Good deeds — deeds that stem from the heart. There is no Hebrew word for "charity" because, to the devout Jew, there is no such thing as "charity." According to the ancient rabbis . . . "We are required to feed the poor of the gentiles as well as our Jewish brethren. . . ." No one is exempt from obligations to his fellow men. The Talmud informs us that "even one whom the community supports must give to the poor." It is interesting to note that, in Jewish tradition, kindness to animals is the purest form of goodness because it is done without any hope of reward.

Do Jews believe in heaven and hell?

Jews believe in the immortality of the soul — an immortality whose nature is known only to God—but they no longer accept the literal idea of heaven and hell.

There was a time when heaven and hell were accepted in Jewish theology but, even then, rarely as physical entities. A soul tormented with remorse for misdeeds was "in hell," a soul delighting in a life well lived was "in heaven."

The 12th-century philosopher Maimonides opposed the idea of rewards and punishments for behavior, the reward for virtuous living, he said, is simply the good life itself.

Do Jews believe that Judaism is the only true religion?

Jews do not presume to judge the honest worshiper of any faith. Our prayer book tells us: "The righteous of all nations are worthy of immortality." We Jews know that there are many mountain tops—and all of them reach for the stars.

Do Christianity and Judaism agree on anything? On what points do they differ?

Christians and Jews share the same rich heritage of the Old Testament, with its timeless truths and its unchanging values. They share their belief in the fatherhood of one God—all-knowing, all-powerful, ever-merciful, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. They share their faith in the sanctity of the Ten Commandments, the wisdom of the prophets and the brotherhood of man.

Central to both faiths is the firm belief in the spirit of man; the pursuit of peace and the hatred of war; in the democratic ideal as a guide to the political and social order; and, above all, in the imperishable nature of man's soul. These are the points of agreement — the broad common ground of Judaism and Christianity that makes up the Judeo-Christian heritage.

The chief areas of disagreement between the two religions are these: Jews do not accept the divinity of Jesus as the "only begotten" Son of God. Jews recognize Jesus as a child of God in the sense that we are all God's children. The ancient rabbis taught us that God's greatest gift is the knowledge that we are made in His image.

Jews also cannot accept the principle of incarnation — God becoming flesh. It is a cardinal tenet of our faith that God is purely spiritual; He admits of no human attributes.

Nor can Judaism accept the principle of vicarious atonement —the idea of salvation through Christ. It is our belief that every man is responsible for his own salvation. We believe that no one can serve as an intermediary between man and God, even in a symbolic sense. We approach God—each man after his own fashion—without a mediator.

Judaism does not accept the doctrine of original sin. We do not interpret the story of Adam and Eve as reflecting man's fall from grace. Nor do we consider our bodies and their appetites as sinful. We look upon them as natural functions of life itself, for God created them.

Do Jews try to convert Gentiles?

No. Modern Judaism is not a proselytizing creed. Jews have always welcomed converts who embraced Judaism out of true conviction. Our tradition makes no distinction between Jews born in or out of the faith.

Conversion to Judaism is not uncommon today. I have participated in the conversion of a number of Protestants and Catholics to the Jewish faith.

Does Judaism oppose intermarriage?

Practically all religions are opposed to marriage outside their faith. Religious Jews oppose intermarriage for the same reasons. When a husband and wife disagree on an issue as basic as their religious creed, the prospect for a lasting and harmonious relationship may be harmed.

Are Jews forbidden to read the New Testament?

No. Jews cannot conceive of being "forbidden" to read anything. There has certainly never been a ban against reading the New Testament or any other Christian writings.

I have even seen pious Jews pouring over the contents of missionary literature; and many Jewish scholars know the Gospels as intimately as the Old Testament which is the basis of our creed.

Are there various creeds and sects among Jews?

American Judaism contains three religious groupings: the Orthodox, the Conservative and the Reform (sometimes called the Liberal).

The Orthodox Jew regards his faith as the main stream of a tradition that has been unaltered for the past 3,000 years. He accepts the Bible as the revealed Will of God. He does not change with each new "wind of doctrine;" he says that his way of life yields neither to expediency nor to comfort.

Orthodox Jews observe the Sabbath strictly (no work, no travel, no writing, no business dealings, no carrying of money). They observe every detail of the dietary laws. They maintain separate pews for women in the synagogue. They use only Hebrew in prayer and ceremonial services.

Reform Judaism differs sharply from Orthodoxy on the matter of Revelation. A Reform Jew accepts as binding only the moral laws of the Bible and those ceremonies that "elevate and sanctify our lives." He does not follow customs he believes "not adapted to the views and habits of modern civilization." Reform Jews feel that faith must be rational and capable of withstanding the careful scrutiny of reason and science.

The worship of Reform Judaism departs from traditional forms. There is complete equality of the sexes in the temple. Prayer is largely in English (or the vernacular). There is greater flexibility in the choice of prayers. Instrumental music is permitted in the temple. The prayer shawl (tallith) is not worn by the male worshippers.

Conservative Jews follow the pattern of traditional Judaism, by and large, but regard Judaism as an evolving and ever-growing religion. They feel that change should be the result of natural growth and in consonance with the spirit of Jewish law. They regard Reform Judaism as too sharp a break with the post.

The Conservative Jew follows the dietary laws, with only minor relaxations. He observes the Sabbath, high holidays and festivals in traditional ways. But he has borrowed many of the forms of Reform Judaism—such as the late-Friday-evening service and the use of English in prayers.

Exactly what is a rabbi and what does he do?

Literally, rabbi means "teacher." The authority of a rabbi is based not on his position but upon his learning. He has no special privileges. He is in no sense an intermediary between man and God.

In Orthodox Jewish practice, the rabbi rarely leads in the service; it is the cantor who conducts worship. And any well-informed layman may rise to the pulpit to lead the congregation in prayer. There is no religious hierarchy in the Jewish faith.

The influence of an individual rabbi is determined solely by his ability to keep the respect of laymen and colleagues as an interpreter of Jewish law.

The modern rabbi, like the minister, is responsible for religious education, for worship in the synagogue, for ceremonials surrounding birth, confirmation, marriage and death and for pastoral guidance.

Is it true that in Judaism the home is more important than the synagogue?

Yes. Many times in history, Jews have been forbidden to worship publicly; synagogues and temples have been closed by law. Yet Jewish religious life has continued intact.

The center of Judaism resides in the family and the home. Jews regard the home as a fitting place of worship—just as they regard marriage as a three-way partnership between husband wife and God.

Our religion is essentially a family religion. The mother, lighting the Sabbath candles; the father, blessing his children at the table; the many happy rituals that surround holidays; the scroll (mezuzah) on the doorpost which signifies that God is in the home—each of these is an integral part of Jewish life.

The Catholic weekly America recently said that "the disproportionately small number of Jewish children requiring public care is a tribute to Jewish family life."

Juvenile delinquency is rare among Jews and alcoholism almost unheard of. Though divorce is permitted by the laws of the Talmud, the divorce rate is far below the community average. (Divorce is permitted when love and harmony have ceased to exist between a man and a woman, and their marriage has become empty and meaningless).

Do all Jews wear hats when they pray?

No. Orthodox Jews wear a hat or skullcap at all times — not only during prayer. Conservative Jews cover the head only during acts of worship. Reform Jews generally pray without hats.

In ancient times, Jews covered their heads during worship by lifting their prayer shawls over their heads in order to cover their eyes. This removed all distraction from prayer and made it possible to attain the greatest concentration during worship. The hat or skullcap is the symbolic descendant of the prayer-shawl covering.

What are the "kosher" laws?

The Old Testament (Leviticus) sets down certain definite dietary restrictions:

1. It is forbidden to eat the meat of certain animals (such as the pig and horse) and certain sea foods (shrimp, lobster, crab, oyster).

2. Meats must be slaughtered according to ritual and must meet specific health standards.

3. Meat products and dairy products may not be eaten together. (The Bible says that meat must not be boiled in milk. This was a pre-Biblical, pagan custom).

Maimonides, a distinguished physician as well as a philosopher, said that "kosher" food restrictions were health measures—particularly in the case of pork, which deteriorates rapidly in warm climates. He also saw important moral values in applying restraint in eating habits—for if we practice discrimination in satisfying our appetite, we may be more self-controlled with the other temptations of life.

Many of the laws concerning kosher food deal with the method of slaughtering the animal: it must be done without pain to the beast, with the greatest possible speed and by a God-fearing man. Incidentally, Jews are forbidden to hunt.

Jews who follow the dietary laws do not feel a sense of deprivation. They regard kosher practices as a symbol of their heritage, a daily lesson in self-discipline and a constant reminder that human beings must feel pity for all living things.

How many Jews obey the dietary laws today? No one can answer authoritatively. A safe guess is that less than 20 per cent of the Jews in America conform strictly to the laws governing kosher food.

What is the Talmud?

The Talmud consists of 63 books of legal, ethical and historical writings of the ancient rabbis. It was edited five centuries after the birth of Jesus.

It is a compendium of law and love. It is the legal code which forms the basis of Jewish religious law and it is the textbook used in the training of rabbis.

Interlaced with the legal discussions of the scholars are thousands of wonderful parables, biographical sketches, historical notes, humorous anecdotes and epigrams—a storehouse of wisdom which is as real today as it was many centuries ago.

Many of the moral maxims of the Talmud have become household phrases: "Give every man the benefit of the doubt." "An ignorant man cannot be a pious one." "Don't look at the flask but at what it contains."

What is the Torah?

The word "Torah" is used in two ways. Broadly, "Torah" means a way of life. It is synonymous with learning, wisdom, love of God. Without this, life has neither meaning nor value.

More narrowly, the Torah is the beautiful, handprinted scroll of the Five Books of Moses (the Bible from Genesis to Deuteronomy) which is housed in the Ark of the synagogue. A portion of the Torah is read aloud every Sabbath during worship.

The worshipper stands when the Torah is taken out of the Ark. A pious Jew kisses the Torah by placing his prayer shawl on the parchment (so his fingers will not touch the scroll) then lifting the fringes of the shawl to his lips.

The Torah is the most sacred object in Jewish worship. Throughout history, men have bled and died to save the revered scroll from desecration.

What is Yom Kippur?

Yom Kippur means "Day of Atonement," the last Ten Days of Penitence. It is marked by 24 hours of prayer and fasting, during which the worshipper (and the congregation collectively) recounts the catalogue of human transgressions—pride, greed, jealously, vanity, lust and so on.

Throughout this day runs the prayer: "Father, we have sinned before Thee." Judaism stresses that prayer is not the sole avenue to Gods' grace. Equally important in God's eyes are deeds of love and compassion.

A story is told of Rabbi Israel Salanter, who failed to appear for worship one Yom Kippur eve. His congregation was frantic, for it was inconceivable that their beloved rabbi would be absent on this holiest night. After a long search, they found him in the barn of a Christian neighbor. On his way to the synagogue, the rabbi had found his neighbor's calf, lost and tangled in the brush. He had freed the calf tenderly and brought it back to its stall. The rabbi's prayer was his act of mercy.

What is Rosh Hashanah?

Rosh Hashanah means New Year. It ushers in the Ten Days of Penitence, during which mankind "passes in judgment before the heavenly throne." It is the season when Jews also sit in judgment on themselves — by comparing their aspirations to their conduct during the year which has just ended. The Rosh Hashanah of 1955 will mark the Jewish year 5716.

Among the Rosh Hashanah prayers is one which asks the Lord to hasten the day when "all men shall come to serve Thee"—when mankind will be joined in universal brotherhood under the Fatherhood of God.

Is an American Jew's first loyalty to Israel or America?

The only loyalty of an American Jew is to the United States of America — without any ifs, ands or buts.

To the Jew, the state of Israel is the ancestral home of his forefathers, the birthplace of his faith and his Bible. It is the haven for over a million Jews—after the agonies and nightmares and murders of the past 20 years.

Surely, it is not surprising that Israel has great and special meaning for Jews all over the world. Nor is it surprising that the courage and the pioneering of the people of Israel have won the respect of men of every religious faith.

But spiritual bonds and emotional ties are quite different from political loyalty. Many Americans retain strong attachments to the land of their fathers. But their political loyalty—whether they be Irish or German or Italian; Catholic, Protestant or Jew—is and will always be to America alone.

Next Installment—What is a Catholic? Do Catholics believe theirs is the only true religion? Do they believe the Pope can do no wrong? Do they believe unbaptized babies cannot go to heaven because of "original sin?" Do they worship "graven images?" Why do Catholics sprinkle holy water on buildings, farm machinery, etc?

Lightning Control Sought

Missoula, Mont. (AP) — Government firefighters are aiming to disarm thunderclouds over Montana to control forest fires. Operation Skyfire is aimed at pulling the fangs of Montana lightning storms by the summer of 1956. Jack Barrows, chief of the Intermountain Forest and Range Experiment Station, says the first objective is to get basic information by man-made changes in clouds. Sky tracking of clouds was among the first jobs. The paths of clouds will be charted to learn their patterns and thunderstorms classified by intensity. Classification should help greatly, said Barrows, "in picking out clouds that look like good bets for seeding and passing up those that look like poor bets." A mobile laboratory is in the field.

Director of Interreligious Services for the American Jewish Committee

What is a Jew?

It is difficult to find a single definition. A Jew is one who accepts the faith of Judaism. That is the religious definition.

A Jew is one who, without formal religious affiliations, regards the teachings of Judaism —its ethics, its folkways, its literature—as his own. That is the cultural definition of a Jew.

Some 1800 years ago, one of our sages taught: "He who is beloved of his fellow men is beloved of God." To worship God is to love the works of His hands.

Practically all religions are opposed to marriage outside their faith. Religious Jews oppose intermarriage for the same reasons. When a husband and wife disagree on an issue as basic as their religious creed, the prospect for a lasting and harmonious relationship may be harmed.

Are Jews forbidden to read the New Testament?

No. Jews cannot conceive of being "forbidden" to read anything. There has certainly never been a ban against reading the New Testament or any other Christian writings.

I have even seen pious Jews pouring over the contents of missionary literature; and many Jewish scholars know the Gospels as intimately as the Old Testament which is the basis of our creed.

Are there various creeds and sects among Jews?

American Judaism contains three religious groupings: the Orthodox, the Conservative and the Reform (sometimes called the Liberal).

The Orthodox Jew regards his faith as the main stream of a tradition that has been unaltered for the past 3,000 years. He accepts the Bible as the revealed Will of God. He does not change with each new "wind of doctrine;" he says that his way of life yields neither to expediency nor to comfort.

Orthodox Jews observe the Sabbath strictly (no work, no travel, no writing, no business dealings, no carrying of money). They observe every detail of the dietary laws. They maintain separate pews for women in the synagogue. They use only Hebrew in prayer and ceremonial services.

Reform Judaism differs sharply from Orthodoxy on the matter of Revelation. A Reform Jew accepts as binding only the moral laws of the Bible and those ceremonies that "elevate and sanctify our lives." He does not follow customs he believes "not adapted to the views and habits of modern civilization." Reform Jews feel that faith must be rational and capable of withstanding the careful scrutiny of reason and science.

The worship of Reform Judaism departs from traditional forms. There is complete equality of the sexes in the temple. Prayer is largely in English (or the vernacular). There is greater flexibility in the choice of prayers. Instrumental music is permitted in the temple. The prayer shawl (tallith) is not worn by the male worshippers.

Conservative Jews follow the pattern of traditional Judaism, by and large, but regard Judaism as an evolving and ever-growing religion. They feel that change should be the result of natural growth and in consonance with the spirit of Jewish law. They regard Reform Judaism as too sharp a break with the post.

The Conservative Jew follows the dietary laws, with only minor relaxations. He observes the Sabbath, high holidays and festivals in traditional ways. But he has borrowed many of the forms of Reform Judaism—such as the late-Friday-evening service and the use of English in prayers.

Exactly what is a rabbi and what does he do?

Literally, rabbi means "teacher." The authority of a rabbi is based not on his position but upon his learning. He has no special privileges. He is in no sense an intermediary between man and God.

In Orthodox Jewish practice, the rabbi rarely leads in the service; it is the cantor who conducts worship. And any well-informed layman may rise to the pulpit to lead the congregation in prayer. There is no religious hierarchy in the Jewish faith.

The influence of an individual rabbi is determined solely by his ability to keep the respect of laymen and colleagues as an interpreter of Jewish law.

The modern rabbi, like the minister, is responsible for religious education, for worship in the synagogue, for ceremonials surrounding birth, confirmation, marriage and death and for pastoral guidance.

Is it true that in Judaism the home is more important than the synagogue?

Yes. Many times in history, Jews have been forbidden to worship publicly; synagogues and temples have been closed by law. Yet Jewish religious life has continued intact.

The center of Judaism resides in the family and the home. Jews regard the home as a fitting place of worship—just as they regard marriage as a three-way partnership between husband wife and God.

Our religion is essentially a family religion. The mother, lighting the Sabbath candles; the father, blessing his children at the table; the many happy rituals that surround holidays; the scroll (mezuzah) on the doorpost which signifies that God is in the home—each of these is an integral part of Jewish life.

The Catholic weekly America recently said that "the disproportionately small number of Jewish children requiring public care is a tribute to Jewish family life."

Juvenile delinquency is rare among Jews and alcoholism almost unheard of. Though divorce is permitted by the laws of the Talmud, the divorce rate is far below the community average. (Divorce is permitted when love and harmony have ceased to exist between a man and a woman, and their marriage has become empty and meaningless).

Do all Jews wear hats when they pray?

No. Orthodox Jews wear a hat or skullcap at all times — not only during prayer. Conservative Jews cover the head only during acts of worship. Reform Jews generally pray without hats.

In ancient times, Jews covered their heads during worship by lifting their prayer shawls over their heads in order to cover their eyes. This removed all distraction from prayer and made it possible to attain the greatest concentration during worship. The hat or skullcap is the symbolic descendant of the prayer-shawl covering.

What are the "kosher" laws?

The Old Testament (Leviticus) sets down certain definite dietary restrictions:

1. It is forbidden to eat the meat of certain animals (such as the pig and horse) and certain sea foods (shrimp, lobster, crab, oyster).

2. Meats must be slaughtered according to ritual and must meet specific health standards.

3. Meat products and dairy products may not be eaten together. (The Bible says that meat must not be boiled in milk. This was a pre-Biblical, pagan custom).

Maimonides, a distinguished physician as well as a philosopher, said that "kosher" food restrictions were health measures—particularly in the case of pork, which deteriorates rapidly in warm climates. He also saw important moral values in applying restraint in eating habits—for if we practice discrimination in satisfying our appetite, we may be more self-controlled with the other temptations of life.

Many of the laws concerning kosher food deal with the method of slaughtering the animal: it must be done without pain to the beast, with the greatest possible speed and by a God-fearing man. Incidenally, Jews are forbidden to hunt.

Jews who follow the dietary laws do not feel a sense of deprivation. They regard kosher practices as a symbol of their heritage, a daily lesson in self-discipline and a constant reminder that human beings must feel pity for all living things.

How many Jews obey the dietary laws today? No one can answer authoritatively. A safe guess is that less than 20 per cent of the Jews in America conform strictly to the laws governing kosher food.

What is the Talmud?

The Talmud consists of 63 books of legal, ethical and historical writings of the ancient rabbis. It was edited five centuries after the birth of Jesus.

It is a compendium of law and love. It is the legal code which forms the basis of Jewish religious law and it is the textbook used in the training of rabbis.

Interlaced with the legal discussions of the scholars are thousands of wonderful parables, biographical sketches, historical notes, humorous anecdotes and epigrams—a storehouse of wisdom which is as real today as it was many centuries ago.

Many of the moral maxims of the Talmud have become household phrases: "Give every man the benefit of the doubt." "An ignorant man cannot be a pious one." "Don't look at the flask but at what it contains."

What is the Torah?

The word "Torah" is used in two ways. Broadly, "Torah" means a way of life. It is synonymous with learning, wisdom, love of God. Without this, life has neither meaning nor value.

More narrowly, the Torah is the beautiful, handprinted scroll of the Five Books of Moses (the Bible from Genesis to Deuteronomy) which is housed in the Ark of the synagogue. A portion of the Torah is read aloud every Sabbath during worship.

The worshipper stands when the Torah is taken out of the Ark. A pious Jew kisses the Torah by placing his prayer shawl on the parchment (so his fingers will not touch the scroll) then lifting the fringes of the shawl to his lips.

The Torah is the most sacred object in Jewish worship. Throughout history, men have bled and died to save the revered scroll from desecration.

What is Yom Kippur?

Yom Kippur means "Day of Atonement," the last Ten Days of Penitence. It is marked by 24 hours of prayer and fasting, during which the worshipper (and the congregation collectively) recounts the catalogue of human transgressions—pride, greed, jealously, vanity, lust and so on.

Throughout this day runs the prayer: "Father, we have sinned before Thee." Judaism stresses that prayer is not the sole avenue to Gods' grace. Equally important in God's eyes are deeds of love and compassion.

A story is told of Rabbi Israel Salanter, who failed to appear for worship one Yom Kippur eve. His congregation was frantic, for it was inconceivable that their beloved rabbi would be absent on this holiest night. After a long search, they found him in the barn of a Christian neighbor. On his way to the synagogue, the rabbi had found his neighbor's calf, lost and tangled in the brush. He had freed the calf tenderly and brought it back to its stall. The rabbi's prayer was his act of mercy.

What is Rosh Hashanah?

Rosh Hashanah means New Year. It ushers in the Ten Days of Penitence, during which mankind "passes in judgment before the heavenly throne." It is the season when Jews also sit in judgment on themselves — by comparing their aspirations to their conduct during the year which has just ended. The Rosh Hashanah of 1955 will mark the Jewish year 5716.

Among the Rosh Hashanah prayers is one which asks the Lord to hasten the day when "all men shall come to serve Thee"—when mankind will be joined in universal brotherhood under the Fatherhood of God.

Is an American Jew's first loyalty to Israel or America?

The only loyalty of an American Jew is to the United States of America — without any ifs, ands or buts.

To the Jew, the state of Israel is the ancestral home of his forefathers, the birthplace of his faith and his Bible. It is the haven for over a million Jews—after the agonies and nightmares and murders of the past 20 years.

Surely, it is not surprising that Israel has great and special meaning for Jews all over the world. Nor is it surprising that the courage and the pioneering of the people of Israel have won the respect of men of every religious faith.

But spiritual bonds and emotional ties are quite different from political loyalty. Many Americans retain strong attachments to the land of their fathers. But their political loyalty—whether they be Irish or German or Italian; Catholic, Protestant or Jew—is and will always be to America alone.

Next Installment—What is a Catholic? Do Catholics believe theirs is the only true religion? Do they believe the Pope can do no wrong? Do they believe unbaptized babies cannot go to heaven because of "original sin?" Do they worship "graven images?" Why do Catholics sprinkle holy water on buildings, farm machinery, etc?

C of C Mails Out New Directories

The new 1955-56 Kingston Area Directory published by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce was mailed to members today. The directory is a classified listing of all members. Additional copies will be available for distribution early next week and may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

During the past year, over 2,500 of the directories were distributed, a large portion of which were used to answer inquiries about sources of various goods, services and employment. Four thousand copies are being printed this year.

The directory includes about 600 listings under more than 125 headings, starting with accountants and ending with women's apparel. A spokesman for the Chamber said that many new residents, as well as buyers and purchasing agents, found the directory very useful in finding sources of goods and services. It is published as a free membership service.

Lightning Control Sought

Missoula, Mont. (AP) — Government firefighters are aiming to disarm thunderclouds over Montana to control forest fires. Operation Skyfire is aimed at pulling the fangs of Montana lightning storms by the summer of 1956. Jack Barrows, chief of the Intermountain Forest and Range Experiment Station, says the first objective is to get basic information by man-made changes in clouds. Sky tracking of clouds was among the first jobs. The paths of clouds will be charted to learn their patterns and thunderstorms classified by intensity. Classification should help greatly, said Barrows, "in picking out clouds that look like good bets for seeding and passing up those that look like poor bets." A mobile laboratory is in the field.

HORN BLOWING PROFANITY

Paris drivers are reforming. Long reputed the most dangerous in the world, they have been involved in one-fourth fewer accidents since August 1, according to official statistics. The explanation is simple. They are now forbiden to use their horns, except in cases of dire emergency. Consequently on approaching intersections they slow up and look instead of blowing their horns and bulling their way through.

Such a prohibition would probably be salutary in the United States. A ban on tooters would certainly reduce the racket at intersections, where those in three or four cars behind the leaders express their impatience by violent horn-blowing.

Some people suggest that new cars be required by law to be made without horns. But this is not the answer. Horns, when needed, are needed badly. The purpose of the horn, however, should be learned by every driver when he first learns to drive. It is to be used for a necessary communication—letting kids on bikes, for instance, know that a dangerous object is approaching, letting the car ahead know that you would like to pass when it is possible.

Swearing with the horn at people caught in traffic who cannot do any better than they are doing should be treated like any other use of bad language in public and handled by cop and judge accordingly.

As in so many other areas of living, courtesy and self-control are the real solution; they are the lubricating oil which eases the friction. Public opinion is finally getting results with bad driving and so-called accidental deaths. It could quiet the streets and highways likewise.

MORE AND FASTER

Many a fine old European custom has taken root in the United States. Now that fine though not old American institution, the supermarket, is sprouting in Europe and far corners of the earth. What's more, when it sprouts it sometimes takes unusual forms.

In Mexico City, for example, the customer can pick out his own rolls and cookies—with a pair of tongs—in a self-service bake shop. Denmark has self-service ladies' ready-to-wear shops. One Latin American supermarket provides baby buggies for trundling groceries from shelf to cash register.

Every European country on this side of the iron curtain, except Spain and Portugal, now has self-service stores. There are supermarkets of a sort in Turkey, the West Indies, Africa, Venezuela and numerous other countries—a total of about 8,500 outside the United States and Canada.

It proves that people abroad, as well as in this country, know a good thing when they see it. In this case the good thing is the American idea that more goods can be sold faster by letting customers help themselves.

NEXT QUESTION, PLEASE

Those who are eager for some sure sign from President Eisenhower whether or not he will run again in 1956 aren't getting much closer to that goal.

The President's only contribution to their dilemma in recent days has been a decidedly negative one. He is reported to have determined that, come what may, he won't decide in 1955 what he will do about the presidency in 1956.

That should be small satisfaction to the impatient folk who think he ought to decide when they want the answer. But at least it clears the air for a while. Maybe our hot reporters in Washington can ask some other question for a few months.

ROAD MENACES

Everyone knows there are defective cars on the road, but few realize how many. The Greater New York Safety Council reports that one out of four is seriously wrong. The most dangerous troubles are those which cannot be found by casual looking but which emphatically manifest themselves on the road. Some cars have faulty brakes, some have play in the steering mechanism, some are afflicted with loose wiring.

The only way to avoid the trouble that these defects might cause is frequent checking by a competent mechanic. Not enough states require this. Not enough owners do it of their own volition.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

DISARMAMENT

The Geneva Conference must come to grips with the question of disarmament. The world is being bankrupted, financially and morally, by the race for supremacy between the United States and Soviet Russia. And other countries are getting into this contest: recently, Red China claimed the fourth place among nations for its air force.

The atmosphere of the moment indicates that the Russians are unusually anxious to find a solution to problems which face the nations of the world and which almost led to war last spring. Never has a country entered upon so full a campaign for good-will. Kruschchev's visit to Tito; the invitation to Adenauer to visit Moscow; the visit of Krishna Menon to this country and his barrage of "good-will" on radio and television; the admission of American tourists who can go to "every" part of Russia except the slave labor camps; Molotov's smiling tour over the United States—these, and Khrushchev's speech at the American Embassy in Moscow on the Fourth of July, are a few examples of the calculated effort to produce good-will.

And who knows? Maybe the new regime in Soviet Russia, headed by Nikita Khrushchev, wants a long breathing period after 10 years of the cold war. I have read a large number of broadcasts delivered to the Russian people on their own radio networks and the tone is exactly the same. The tendency is to express sadness at the failure of the United States to appreciate the desire of the Soviet world for peace.

In a word, the Russians give the appearance, at any rate, of needing the cold war to come to an end. If that is really their necessity, there is hope in this world for peace in our times.

The question, however, is not the atmosphere that can be developed during a pre-conference publicity campaign. What counts is the proposals that Soviet Russia will make at the Geneva Conference and their reactions to our proposals.

Then it gets down to a meeting of minds on paper. The little that can be accomplished in six days is not to deter us. The meeting at the summit was never practical; it was a dramatic idea, the brainchild of Sir Winston Churchill, but the father was Stalin. After the lofty gentlemen have dined and wined and conversed, the work will have to be done by the Foreign Ministers and their experts.

When it comes to the crucial question of disarmament, the discussion will be over the precise facts of the moment and then each side will be faced by the other's willingness to lay all the data on the table. How much are we willing to tell the Russians about our work in atom and hydrogen bombs and how much are they willing to tell us? This can involve ticklish decisions, because one side or the other may give away its hand to no advantage and suffer a strategic defeat of enormous dimensions. Each side will have to be wary lest the other side use the meeting only to get more information.

The problem then is how to end the race for unconventional weapons. If a formula of inspection, control and public reporting can be found, if all secrecy is removed from the field of weapons, the danger of the unconventional weapons can be removed and the devastating arms race can be ended.

President Eisenhower often uses the word, "sincerity," and it is not a well-chosen word in politics because how is one ever to know what is hidden in the consciousness of a statesman? The truly great diplomat, Talleyrand, was always sincere; that is, he always believed that Talleyrand should win the stakes. He was sincere about that. Stalin was sincere in getting the best of every situation.

But there does come a time when wars and their warlike aftermaths must end because the peoples of various countries cannot continue to suffer their consequences. Soviet Russia must produce more consumers' goods if her peasants are to provide food; the United States must relieve its citizens of the burden of taxation and must put an end to its creeping inflation.

Therefore, this may be the time when practical politicians, in their own interests, as well as to the advantage of their peoples, will labor valiantly to put an end to the armament race. It could be a Godsend.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

KNOW YOUR DOCTOR

In these days when great efforts are being made toward a better understanding between doctor and patient, it might be helpful to outline what Dr. Leo Smaller in his book, "Know Your Doctor," has picked out as the eight principles essential to being a successful patient.

1. Don't try to diagnose your own case. It helps to tell the physician in a straightforward manner all the symptoms you can find, but don't try to make up his mind for him. Your own conclusion will have little effect on his but instead it may mislead you so that your imagination will breed phony symptoms which, if only for a time, may throw the doctor off the trail of your actual trouble. You will be easier to cure if you tell the doctor all the facts and let him reach the conclusion.

2. Undergo a basic laboratory examination even though your symptoms may seem trivial. Often your doctor will suggest it first but sometimes he will not because of the patient's emphasis on cost. A physical examination should include a blood count and urinalysis.

3. Learn from your physician just what he is doing about your case. Ask him what he has discovered in his examination, what he is treating you for, and how you will be expected to react. This clears the air of unnecessary fears and the patient knows just what his condition is.

4. Follow your physician's orders and advice conscientiously — at least until he has had ample time to prove whether he is right, or not.

5. Search yourself thoroughly for the answer to this vital question: could my emotions, or my nerves, or my thinking, be part of my trouble. This is a very difficult thing to do but will help your physician immensely if you persist.

6. Keep a symptom diary. In any small notebook, write down your symptoms of pain or other abnormal body behavior, when they came, and what your thoughts and reactions were at the time. The physician cannot constantly watch the patient and so must rely heavily on the patient's own report of his condition.

7. Confide in your physician as though he were your closest friend. Talk to him, if you prefer, while facing away from him. He must know more about you than can be learned from laboratory tests.

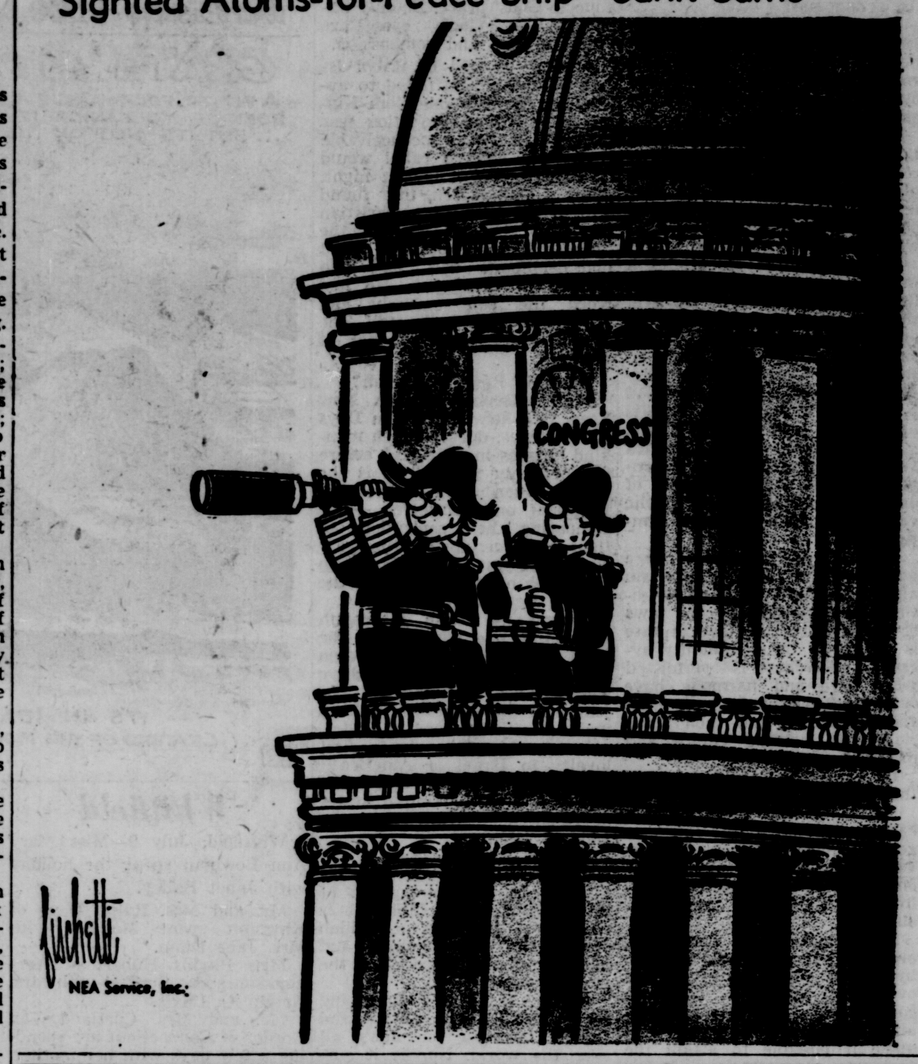

8. If your physician ignores possible mental or emotional factors in your condition, leave him. You are more than a heart-driven machine. Your physician should be the first to admit it. If he is not, there are better physicians who will. Go to them.

"Sighted Atoms-for-Peace Ship---Sank Same"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — At the recent International Trade Fair at Barcelona, Spain, handsome U. S. Ambassador to Spain John Lodge was posing for pictures in a shiny red Ford Thunderbird which was on exhibit.

As the flashbulbs were popping, an eager and extremely attractive young senorita turned to a quiet, undistinguished-looking American standing next to her in the crowd.

"Would you help me get a picture taken with the embajador?" she asked with a dazzling smile. He said he'd try and succeeded, she thanked the mousy man for the assistance and asked him who he was.

"I'm Douglas McKay, Secretary of Interior," he replied. Unabashed, she then inquired if he, too, would pose as she sat at the wheel. The gallant secretary obliged again.

IKE ISN'T THE ONLY person who is being wooed to make another bid for the presidency.

The Woman's National Democratic Club here held a song fest and serenaded their favorite candidate—he wasn't there—to the tune of "Sweet Adeline." It went:

Please, oh please do not decline
Sweet Adlai, mine."

WHEN SEN. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore.) can't make a speaking engagement he's never worried, for his wife and political assistant, Maurine, can always fill in.

As a member of the lower house of the Oregon Legislature she's a pretty snappy speaker in her own right. But Mrs. Neuberger thinks there's no replacing hubby.

Pinch-hitting for the senator at a recent New York dinner she cracked, "It is sort of like ordering rare roast beef and getting plebian hamburger — too well done."

THE SOCIAL PACE has been terrific here lately and the question has come up as to how thinly one guest can spread himself out in an evening. And conversely, does a hostess want a guest on his first stop, his fourth, or on his last?

Gwenn Cafritz tells us she doesn't care when people show up at her cocktail parties. "But I like them to arrive fresh and hungry for dinner," she says.

Mrs. Charles Wilson, wife of the defense secretary, admits her maximum number of parties on any one day is four. Sometimes when the calendar is heavy she and her husband will split up a couple of times during an evening and go separately just to register more appearances.

Some hostesses explain they'd rather have a busy guest drop in about the middle of his schedule. At this stage he's mellow, yet won't hang around to all hours.

PRETTY JOYCE BOVIK, newly elected cochairman of the Young Republican National Federation, is convinced President Eisenhower carefully reads the morning newspapers.

After flying in from Denver, Colo., a few days ago, she went to the White House early in the morning.

"Congratulations on winning the election yesterday," was the first thing Ike said to her.

"Oh, but it was last Saturday that I was elected," she replied.

"No, I mean yesterday's election of a Republican mayor in Denver," Ike told the young campaign worker.

"Well, that's news to me," stammered startled Joyce who had left Denver before the ballots were counted.

Later she exclaimed, "I never dreamed it would be the President who told me we won the election."

UP TO NOW 87-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) has held undisputed title as the upper chamber's gayest gadabout.

But a newcomer is making a serious challenge for the crown. He's 44-year-old Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) who rarely ignores an invitation.

Green is still in there pitching, however. At one of the Austrian embassy's "Viennese Evenings" not too long ago he waltzed with all the ladies while the younger men and other senators lost their breath and quit.

THIS IS THE TIME of year when the Weather Bureau goes bats trying to answer phone calls from panicky hostesses who want to know whether it's safe to throw an outdoor party.

"Sometimes the name of a senator will be dropped in the foolish hope that we'll give them a special brand of the weather," reports one of the town's official forecasters.

Mme. Muniz, wife of the Brazilian ambassador, got the straight scoop from the weatherman the other day, but she'll never call again. Several hours before guests were due to arrive at the embassy for a garden party, the sky clouded up.

Mme. Muniz telephoned the Weather Bureau and they told her it would rain between 7 and 8 o'clock. So she chucked elaborate outdoor preparations and had the food tables and bar moved inside. Of course, it never rained a drop.

"I guess they couldn't help it," sighed the lady from Brazil. "But the next time I'll take a chance."

"IF RUSSIAN BOSS Khrushchev is going to try and climb to the 'summit' at Geneva and hang on to that dizzy height, then he had better water down his vodka and milk a mountain goat," quips Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.).

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

A leading question for the week of July Fourth is: Where will mass conformity lead?

It was a combination of Independence Day and excerpts from a forthcoming book that got me to ruminating over the role of individualists and non-conformists in the years to come.

Everything is becoming so "big" that one wonders if the individual will become lost in the shuffling of vast undertakings and technological complexities.

If people ("the crowd") become further enmeshed within what you might term a "pattern of uniform conformity" will this be the cause of—

a) mass movements gaining ever greater intensity and increased cohesion; and

b) the individualist finding it increasingly difficult to hold his place in the enveloping "bigness" of socio-economic affairs?

THIS IS A NATURAL "think subject" for the week in which we celebrate Independence Day . . . for our founding fathers dedicated their scheme of government not only upon the idea of an independent and free nation, but also on the revered notion of independent and free individuals.

The fast early growth of this wonderful nation of ours was due, as everyone but addled-headed leftists recognize, to the extraordinary accomplishments of individual entrepreneurs.

Indeed, these economic pioneers (whom the egg-heads like to call "buccaneers") built so fast and so furiously that their second step—of combining enterprises and pyramidding one on top of another—has now led to the submersion of the individual effort, and the fostering of group effort and conformity of individuals to mass patterns.

One of the first questions asked today when an employe of a corporate giant is being considered for advancement is this: "Is he a company man?"

THE QUESTION is not "Is he an individualist?"—heavens, no—but does he conform to the company pattern? Does he live and breathe the gospel of "group think"? Bluntly, does he conform, or does he run off on tangents of his own creation?

Nothing, perhaps, is more frustrating to an individualist than being mired in a modern group-led massive corporate organization. The unfortunate guy should get out and seek contentment elsewhere, regardless of the loss of security that goes with conformity.

The "company" is better off, if he leaves, because the huge outfits can no longer be operated for the benefit of individuals, and they are both better off because the individualist will be unable to contribute his share to the company's progress. (Like all general assertions, there are exceptions to the foregoing. An individualist may be taken care of in a research laboratory, or in special sales missions, but his chances of rising to the top are not what they were in the days of smaller units and brilliant attainments of star performers).

You cannot "blame" anyone for this development in American industry. It has simply grown that way. Business organizations have become too large for individual management. We have entered the era of group management and mass conformity.

YOU CAN READ some interesting sidelights on this new era of Bigness in the current issue of Life Magazine (July 4). Extracts from a forthcoming novel by Cameron Hawley (author of "Executive Suite") are presented under Life's title of "Fast Millions and Fast Deals." Cash McCall is the fast-buck hero of the tale, and the title of the book will be "Cash McCall." (Houghton-Mifflin, November).

McCall is an individualist with a money-making turn-of-mind. He's anything but a conformist; far from a "company man." So he's a lone-wolf operator, buying up little companies that can't survive under the competition of the giants, and putting them into combines which can afford group leadership. An interesting story.

But aside from the phenomenon of "bigness" and the problems of the individualist, we contrarians have a connective conundrum to ruminate over. May not this emphasis on group-thinking and conformity lead to cyclical movements which will be of greater, rather than lesser, intensity in the future? We're told repeatedly that modern economics will prevent acute fluctuations in business. We might ponder just the opposite, because of the accent on mass conformation and group thinking.

Opening lead—♥ Q

Written for NEA Service

The first principle of good defense is to keep your eye on the setting trick. East blinked in today's hand, and declarer stole the contact.

West opened the queen of hearts, and South won at once with the ace. East signalled enthusiastically with the seven of hearts, and both defenders knew that they were ready to cash heart tricks as soon as they could get the lead.

The defenders had a long wait, however. After taking the ace of hearts, South ran the six diamonds, giving East and West the problem of holding on to everything.

East discarded a low club to begin with, and West signalled with the eight of clubs and then the deuce of clubs as soon as he could. Each signalled with the nine of spades and then the three of spades.

By the time that dummy had finished with the diamonds, East was reduced to four hearts and two spades. West kept the ace of clubs, three hearts, and two spades.

Since nobody had discarded a heart, South knew that he was in trouble. Nevertheless, he led a club from the dummy after finishing with the long string of diamonds.

It was at this moment that East blinked. He had been saving two spades so carefully that he forgot why he was saving them. When dummy led a club, East thoughtlessly discarded a heart in the effort to keep two spades. This discarded heart was the setting trick—thrown away!

West won with the ace of clubs and could have taken three heart tricks, but this would not defeat the contact. He led a spade, hoping South would finesse, but declarer went up with the ace of spades and took a few club tricks to make the contract comfortably.

East should have discarded a spade when dummy finally led a club. This would make it possible for the defenders to take one club and four hearts, defeating the contract.

HORN BLOWING PROFANITY

Paris drivers are reforming. Long reputed the most dangerous in the world, they have been involved in one-fourth fewer accidents since August 1, according to official statistics. The explanation is simple. They are now forbiden to use their horns, except in cases of dire emergency. Consequently on approaching intersections they slow up and look instead of blowing their horns and bulling their way through.

Such a prohibition would probably be salutary in the United States. A ban on tooters would certainly reduce the racket at intersections, where those in three or four cars behind the leaders express their impatience by violent horn-blowing.

Some people suggest that new cars be required by law to be made without horns. But this is not the answer. Horns, when needed, are needed badly. The purpose of the horn, however, should be learned by every driver when he first learns to drive. It is to be used for a necessary communication—letting kids on bikes, for instance, know that a dangerous object is approaching, letting the car ahead know that you would like to pass when it is possible.

Swearing with the horn at people caught in traffic who cannot do any better than they are doing should be treated like any other use of bad language in public and handled by cop and judge accordingly.

As in so many other areas of living, courtesy and self-control are the real solution; they are the lubricating oil which eases the friction. Public opinion is finally getting results with bad driving and so-called accidental deaths. It could quiet the streets and highways likewise.

MORE AND FASTER

Many a fine old European custom has taken root in the United States. Now that fine though not old American institution, the supermarket, is sprouting in Europe and far corners of the earth. What's more, when it sprouts it sometimes takes unusual forms.

In Mexico City, for example, the customer can pick out his own rolls and cookies—with a pair of tongs—in a self-service bake shop. Denmark has self-service ladies' ready-to-wear shops. One Latin American supermarket provides baby buggies for trundling groceries from shelf to cash register.

Every European country on this side of the iron curtain, except Spain and Portugal, now has self-service stores. There are supermarkets of a sort in Turkey, the West Indies, Africa, Venezuela and numerous other countries—a total of about 8,500 outside the United States and Canada.

It proves that people abroad, as well as in this country, know a good thing when they see it. In this case the good thing is the American idea that more goods can be sold faster by letting customers help themselves.

NEXT QUESTION, PLEASE

Those who are eager for some sure sign from President Eisenhower whether or not he will run again in 1956 aren't getting much closer to that goal.

The President's only contribution to their dilemma in recent days has been a decidedly negative one. He is reported to have determined that, come what may, he won't decide in 1955 what he will do about the presidency in 1956.

That should be small satisfaction to the impatient folk who think he ought to decide when they want the answer. But at least it clears the air for a while. Maybe our hot reporters in Washington can ask some other question for a few months.

ROAD MENACES

Everyone knows there are defective cars on the road, but few realize how many. The Greater New York Safety Council reports that one out of four is seriously wrong. The most dangerous troubles are those which cannot be found by casual looking but which emphatically manifest themselves on the road. Some cars have faulty brakes, some have play in the steering mechanism, some are afflicted with loose wiring.

The only way to avoid the trouble that these defects might cause is frequent checking by a competent mechanic. Not enough states require this. Not enough owners do it of their own volition.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

DISARMAMENT

The Geneva Conference must come to grips with the question of disarmament. The world is being bankrupted, financially and morally, by the race for supremacy between the United States and Soviet Russia. And other countries are getting into this contest: recently, Red China claimed the fourth place among nations for its air force.

The atmosphere of the moment indicates that the Russians are unusually anxious to find a solution to problems which face the nations of the world and which almost led to war last spring. Never has a country entered upon so full a campaign for good-will. Kruschchev's visit to Tito; the invitation to Adenauer to visit Moscow; the visit of Krishna Menon to this country and his barrage of "good-will" on radio and television; the admission of American tourists who can go to "every" part of Russia except the slave labor camps; Molotov's smiling tour over the United States—these, and Khrushchev's speech at the American Embassy in Moscow on the Fourth of July, are a few examples of the calculated effort to produce good-will.

And who knows? Maybe the new regime in Soviet Russia, headed by Nikita Khrushchev, wants a long breathing period after 10 years of the cold war. I have read a large number of broadcasts delivered to the Russian people on their own radio networks and the tone is exactly the same. The tendency is to express sadness at the failure of the United States to appreciate the desire of the Soviet world for peace.

In a word, the Russians give the appearance, at any rate, of needing the cold war to come to an end. If that is really their necessity, there is hope in this world for peace in our times.

The question, however, is not the atmosphere that can be developed during a pre-conference publicity campaign. What counts is the proposals that Soviet Russia will make at the Geneva Conference and their reactions to our proposals.

Then it gets down to a meeting of minds on paper. The little that can be accomplished in six days is not to deter us. The meeting at the summit was never practical; it was a dramatic idea, the brainchild of Sir Winston Churchill, but the father was Stalin. After the lofty gentlemen have dined and wined and conversed, the work will have to be done by the Foreign Ministers and their experts.

When it comes to the crucial question of disarmament, the discussion will be over the precise facts of the moment and then each side will be faced by the other's willingness to lay all the data on the table. How much are we willing to tell the Russians about our work in atom and hydrogen bombs and how much are they willing to tell us? This can involve ticklish decisions, because one side or the other may give away its hand to no advantage and suffer a strategic defeat of enormous dimensions. Each side will have to be wary lest the other side use the meeting only to get more information.

The problem then is how to end the race for unconventional weapons. If a formula of inspection, control and public reporting can be found, if all secrecy is removed from the field of weapons, the danger of the unconventional weapons can be removed and the devastating arms race can be ended.

President Eisenhower often uses the word, "sincerity," and it is not a well-chosen word in politics because how is one ever to know what is hidden in the consciousness of a statesman? The truly great diplomat, Talleyrand, was always sincere; that is, he always believed that Talleyrand should win the stakes. He was sincere about that. Stalin was sincere in getting the best of every situation.

But there does come a time when wars and their warlike aftermaths must end because the peoples of various countries cannot continue to suffer their consequences. Soviet Russia must produce more consumers' goods if her peasants are to provide food; the United States must relieve its citizens of the burden of taxation and must put an end to its creeping inflation.

Therefore, this may be the time when practical politicians, in their own interests, as well as to the advantage of their peoples, will labor valiantly to put an end to the armament race. It could be a Godsend.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

KNOW YOUR DOCTOR

In these days when great efforts are being made toward a better understanding between doctor and patient, it might be helpful to outline what Dr. Leo Smaller in his book, "Know Your Doctor," has picked out as the eight principles essential to being a successful patient.

1. Don't try to diagnose your own case. It helps to tell the physician in a straightforward manner all the symptoms you can find, but don't try to make up his mind for him. Your own conclusion will have little effect on his but instead it may mislead you so that your imagination will breed phony symptoms which, if only for a time, may throw the doctor off the trail of your actual trouble. You will be easier to cure if you tell the doctor all the facts and let him reach the conclusion.

2. Undergo a basic laboratory examination even though your symptoms may seem trivial. Often your doctor will suggest it first but sometimes he will not because of the patient's emphasis on cost. A physical examination should include a blood count and urinalysis.

3. Learn from your physician just what he is doing about your case. Ask him what he has discovered in his examination, what he is treating you for, and how you will be expected to react. This clears the air of unnecessary fears and the patient knows just what his condition is.

4. Follow your physician's orders and advice conscientiously — at least until he has had ample time to prove whether he is right, or not.

5. Search yourself thoroughly for the answer to this vital question: could my emotions, or my nerves, or my thinking, be part of my trouble. This is a very difficult thing to do but will help your physician immensely if you persist.

6. Keep a symptom diary. In any small notebook, write down your symptoms of pain or other abnormal body behavior, when they came, and what your thoughts and reactions were at the time. The physician cannot constantly watch the patient and so must rely heavily on the patient's own report of his condition.

7. Confide in your physician as though he were your closest friend. Talk to him, if you prefer, while facing away from him. He must know more about you than can be learned from laboratory tests.

8. If your physician ignores possible mental or emotional factors in your condition, leave him. You are more than a heart-driven machine. Your physician should be the first to admit it. If he is not, there are better physicians who will. Go to them.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

A leading question for the week of July Fourth is: Where will mass conformity lead?

It was a combination of Independence Day and excerpts from a forthcoming book that got me to ruminating over the role of individualists and non-conformists in the years to come.

Everything is becoming so "big" that one wonders if the individual will become lost in the shuffling of vast undertakings and technological complexities.

If people ("the crowd") become further enmeshed within what you might term a "pattern of uniform conformity" will this be the cause of—

a) mass movements gaining ever greater intensity and increased cohesion; and

b) the individualist finding it increasingly difficult to hold his place in the enveloping "bigness" of socio-economic affairs?

THIS IS A NATURAL "think subject" for the week in which we celebrate Independence Day . . . for our founding fathers dedicated their scheme of government not only upon the idea of an independent and free nation, but also on the revered notion of independent and free individuals.

The fast early growth of this wonderful nation of ours was due, as everyone but addled-headed leftists recognize, to the extraordinary accomplishments of individual entrepreneurs.

Indeed, these economic pioneers (whom the egg-heads like to call "buccaneers") built so fast and so furiously that their second step—of combining enterprises and pyramidding one on top of another—has now led to the submersion of the individual effort, and the fostering of group effort and conformity of individuals to mass patterns.

One of the first questions asked today when an employe of a corporate giant is being considered for advancement is this: "Is he a company man?"

THE QUESTION is not "Is he an individualist?"—heavens, no—but does he conform to the company pattern? Does he live and breathe the gospel of "group think"? Bluntly, does he conform, or does he run off on tangents of his own creation?

Nothing, perhaps, is more frustrating to an individualist than being mired in a modern group-led massive corporate organization. The unfortunate guy should get out and seek contentment elsewhere, regardless of the loss of security that goes with conformity.

The "company" is better off, if he leaves, because the huge outfits can no longer be operated for the benefit of individuals, and they are both better off because the individualist will be unable to contribute his share to the company's progress. (Like all general assertions, there are exceptions to the foregoing. An individualist may be taken care of in a research laboratory, or in special sales missions, but his chances of rising to the top are not what they were in the days of smaller units and brilliant attainments of star performers).

You cannot "blame" anyone for this development in American industry. It has simply grown that way. Business organizations have become too large for individual management. We have entered the era of group management and mass conformity.

YOU CAN READ some interesting sidelights on this new era of Bigness in the current issue of Life Magazine (July 4). Extracts from a forthcoming novel by Cameron Hawley (author of "Executive Suite") are presented under Life's title of "Fast Millions and Fast Deals." Cash McCall is the fast-buck hero of the tale, and the title of the book will be "Cash McCall." (Houghton-Mifflin, November).

McCall is an individualist with a money-making turn-of-mind. He's anything but a conformist; far from a "company man." So he's a lone-wolf operator, buying up little companies that can't survive under the competition of the giants, and putting them into combines which can afford group leadership. An interesting story.

But aside from the phenomenon of "bigness" and the problems of the individualist, we contrarians have a connective conundrum to ruminate over. May not this emphasis on group-thinking and conformity lead to cyclical movements which will be of greater, rather than lesser, intensity in the future? We're told repeatedly that modern economics will prevent acute fluctuations in business. We might ponder just the opposite, because of the accent on mass conformation and group thinking.

Opening lead—♥ Q

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The first principle of good defense is to keep your eye on the setting trick. East blinked in today's hand, and declarer stole the contact.

West opened the queen of hearts, and South won at once with the ace. East signalled enthusiastically with the seven of hearts, and both defenders knew that they were ready to cash heart tricks as soon as they could get the lead.

The defenders had a long wait, however. After taking the ace of hearts, South ran the six diamonds, giving East and West the problem of holding on to everything.

East discarded a low club to begin with, and West signalled with the eight of clubs and then the deuce of clubs as soon as he could. Each signalled with the nine of spades and then the three of spades.

By the time that dummy had finished with the diamonds, East was reduced to four hearts and two spades. West kept the ace of clubs, three hearts, and two spades.

Since nobody had discarded a heart, South knew that he was in trouble. Nevertheless, he led a club from the dummy after finishing with the long string of diamonds.

It was at this moment that East blinked. He had been saving two spades so carefully that he forgot why he was saving them. When dummy led a club, East thoughtlessly discarded a heart in the effort to keep two spades. This discarded heart was the setting trick—thrown away!

West won with the ace of clubs and could have taken three heart tricks, but this would not defeat the contact. He led a spade, hoping South would finesse, but declarer went up with the ace of spades and took a few club tricks to make the contract comfortably.

East should have discarded a spade when dummy finally led a club. This would make it possible for the defenders to take one club and four hearts, defeating the contract.

French Farce at Hyde Park

Uta Hagen and her husband, Herbert Berghof share acting honors in the riotous performance of "Cyprienne" a play based on the French work by Sardou, this week at Hyde Park Playhouse. As the wife bent on divorce, Miss Hagen treats the audience to a delightful interpretion, with sweeps of broad comedy in her "confession" scene. As her husband, who is determined to prevent the abrupt conclusion to his "peaceful haven," Mr. Berghof dominates many scenes with nuance of facial expression alone, displaying his mastery of the acting art. Rex O'Mally brings his polished humor to the amusing third act as the maitre d' hotel of the cafe. The two sets for the period piece are a credit to scene designer Edgar Lansbury.

Following Miss Hagen at the Playhouse will be an equally distinguished actress of both the American and the British stage, Jessie Royce Landis. Miss Landis will open next Tuesday, in the world premiere of "The International Set", written by Louis Kronenberger, drama critic of "Time" magazine.

Miss Landis has starred on Broadway in "Kiss and Tell", "Papa Is All" and "A Winter's Tale". Her American films include "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College" and the yet to be released, "To Catch a Thief" with Cary Grant and Grace Kelly. She has just returned from London where she starred for three years in a play called "Larger Than Life".

"The International Set" is a comedy about the richest man in the world who, having run out of things to collect, starts a collection of famous or noted people who are now in "difficult straits".

'Time Out for Ginger' Now at Cragsmoor

"Time Out for Ginger," the Ronald Alexander comedy, is playing this week at Cragsmoor Playhouse. In the featured role is Harry Basch, who portrayed Stephanowski in the national company of "Mr. Roberts," who just completed a season of winter stock at the Arena Theatre in Rochester.

French Farce at Hyde Park

Uta Hagen and her husband, Herbert Berghof share acting honors in the riotous performance of "Cyprienne" a play based on the French work by Sardou, this week at Hyde Park Playhouse. As the wife bent on divorce, Miss Hagen treats the audience to a delightful interpretion, with sweeps of broad comedy in her "confession" scene. As her husband, who is determined to prevent the abrupt conclusion to his "peaceful haven," Mr. Berghof dominates many scenes with nuance of facial expression alone, displaying his mastery of the acting art. Rex O'Mally brings his polished humor to the amusing third act as the maitre d' hotel of the cafe. The two sets for the period piece are a credit to scene designer Edgar Lansbury.

Following Miss Hagen at the Playhouse will be an equally distinguished actress of both the American and the British stage, Jessie Royce Landis. Miss Landis will open next Tuesday, in the world premiere of "The International Set", written by Louis Kronenberger, drama critic of "Time" magazine.

Miss Landis has starred on Broadway in "Kiss and Tell", "Papa Is All" and "A Winter's Tale". Her American films include "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College" and the yet to be released, "To Catch a Thief" with Cary Grant and Grace Kelly. She has just returned from London where she starred for three years in a play called "Larger Than Life".

"The International Set" is a comedy about the richest man in the world who, having run out of things to collect, starts a collection of famous or noted people who are now in "difficult straits".

Pastel Flooring Helps Room

It's easy to give the illusion of extra space to the living room that's too narrow by using light-hued rubber flooring in one of the smart new pastel shades such as chartreuse, gold or sky blue. Then use a directional design in solid squares or a geometric pattern in gray, charcoal, black or some other contrasting shade, where you need the feeling of extra width.

The new pastel colors in rubber flooring that harmonize so well with modern furniture are practical, too, even with a houseful of children. It takes only a whisk of a broom and an occasional mop to remove surface dirt, so there's no problem about keeping light colors free from soil.

Finds Painted Bricks Keep House Cooler

Scientific experimentation has demonstrated that painted brick structures are cooler and less humid inside than unpainted ones. Such treatment improves the appearance of many not-so-young brick houses and also prevents moisture seepage and further deterioration. Clear waterproof coating are sometimes used which will impede water seepage and still retain the normal appearance of the brick. Various types of both coatings are available at all paint dealers. They are easy to apply.

Avoid Direct Sunlight When Painting House

It's always wise to paint the outside of a structure when direct sunlight does not fall on the surface to which the paint is being applied. Direct sunlight on fresh paint may cause it to dry too fast and wrinkle in warm weather. Get the jump on the sun by painting western surfaces in the early morning. You work on areas with northern and eastern exposure during the middle of the day and tackle the south walls after the sun has left them in the afternoon.

Clean Out All Crevices Before Painting Exterior

When preparing the exterior of a structure for painting, it is important to clean out crevices and cracks around windows, door frames and chimneys with a knife, followed by a stiff whisk broom. Next, a coat of exterior primer should be applied. When the primer is dry, cracks should be packed with caulking compound. This should be allowed to set 48 hours before painting.

Painting Green Wood

When painting unfinished green wood, wipe the surface down with turpentiine before you start to paint. This will soften up the gums in the wood pores so that the paint can sink in and make a good bond. It's also a good idea to use a little additional turp in the paint on wood of this kind.

Don't Crowd Peppers

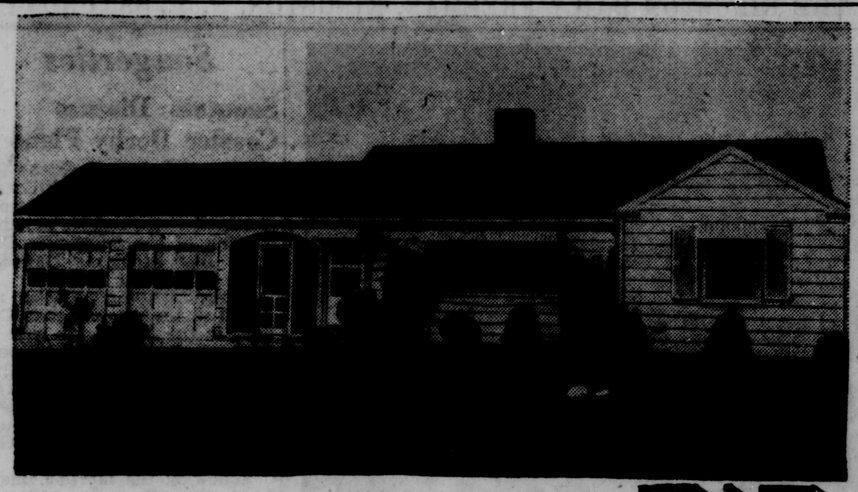

Give pepper plants plenty of room. Expert growers allow them two and a half feet in a row. Give them plenty of water, also, because they need a lot of it.

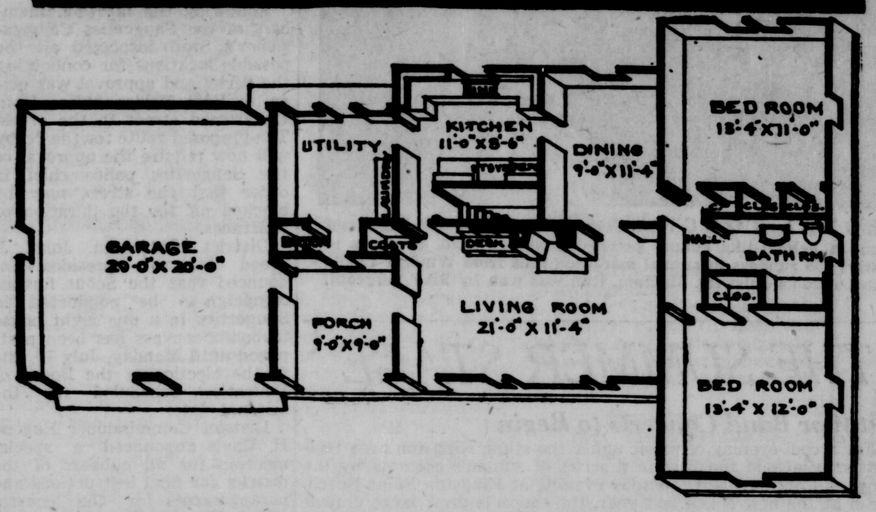

Can Doubles as Sprayer

A paint can has been developed with push-button control for spraying paint on farm machinery to prevent rust.

Lighting Tip

The 100-watt incandescent lamp gives more light than two 50-watt lamps. Some of the energy in a lamp is lost by being conducted as heat through the gas in the bulb.

'The Swan' Charming And Convenient

Rooms	Six
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Six
Cubage:
House	21,500 ft.
Garage	6,300 ft.
Dimensions	66' x 31'

Called "The Swan," today's presentation from the Home of the Week Plan Service is a charmingly designed ranch-style home.

Containing six regular rooms this one-story house also has an enclosed porch which could easily be made into another room.

Straight simple architectural lines distinguish this attractive home. The abundance of good-sized windows adds to both the exterior and interior appeal. Colored roofing can be used to good effect — especially if you have white paint on a shingled or clapboard exterior.

Measurements

Overall measurements of the house and the attached two-car garage are 66 by 31 feet. Cubage of the house is 21,500 feet; cubage of the garage is 6300 feet. You should have at least a 90-foot lot on which to build this house.

Both of the well-ventilated bedrooms are located in the right wing of the house. Each room features abundant closet storage space; the bath is conveniently located between the bedrooms.

Should you need a third bedroom the area set aside as a dining room can be converted into another bedroom. The spacious living room is large enough and so arranged that it can serve as both a living and a dining room.

Also a Study

If you follow the arrangement suggested in the accompanying plan and have bookshelves and a desk built into the back living room wall you can use the further section of the room as a study.

The compact kitchen has been planned with the idea of making kitchen tasks as easy as possible by keeping all appliances and supplies within easy reaching distance. No breakfast area is provided in the kitchen itself.

Utility Room

All of your laundry equipment will easily fit in the utility room, too. You'll find the spacious broom closet a handy storage spot for all of your cleaning supplies and equipment. And, you'll welcome the ready access to the back yard provided by the door in the back wall of the room.

Your heating equipment should be installed in the basement of the house. It should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Dept. 19, and enclose a self addressed 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Curtains for a Room

Want to know how to choose the right curtains for a room? Look at the walls and floor coverings first and let them influence the amount and kind of design used in the curtains. There may be a color in the wallpaper or rug that you will want to emphasize in the curtains. Or you may decide on plain curtains because there is already enough design in the room in the wallpaper or rug.

Keep Drains Clear

Before freezing weather sets in, be sure that any outside drains in drives or walks are cleaned out. If they start off the season clogged with leaves and dirt they'll soon be completely closed by ice and won't be worth a nickel until warm weather.

Paint Coverage

It is usually estimated that a gallon of outside paint should cover approximately 220 square feet. The exact coverage depends upon the roughness of the wood and its previous treatment.

'Dirt' May Be Mildew

A main cause of discolored paint on houses is mildew.

Careful Crop Rotation Can Control Fungus

The fungus which causes anthracnose of cucumbers and melons can live over on old plant parts in the soil for at least one year, according to vegetable crops pathologists.

Results of disease surveys and experiments by pathologists show that the disease is much more severe in plantings where cucumbers or melons are planted on the same land in successive years. A large part of these losses could have been prevented had growers practiced careful crop rotation, say the pathologists.

Old Locks or Latches Can Be Modernized

Any mortise type lock or latch can be converted into a modern cylindrical lock with keyhole in the doorknob by a new locking doorknob that takes the place of a present knob.

It is installed with nothing more than a screwdriver. The outer knob spins freely when locked and offers no means for tampering. The entire lock is attached on the indoor side. No cutting, drilling or chiseling is needed.

Take It Easy on That Do-It-Yourself Project

Don't be an eager-beaver in your first do-it-yourself projects. Start with simple things. And, above all, take your time. The greatest enemy of the beginner is impatience. He cuts the parts and then he can't wait until he sees the finished product. A hasty assembling job follows . . . and the finished product looks far from finished.

Arborvitae Sheds Leaves

It is natural for the inner leaves of arborvitae to turn brown and drop.

Pastel Flooring Helps Room

It's easy to give the illusion of extra space to the living room that's too narrow by using light-hued rubber flooring in one of the smart new pastel shades such as chartreuse, gold or sky blue. Then use a directional design in solid squares or a geometric pattern in gray, charcoal, black or some other contrasting shade, where you need the feeling of extra width.

The new pastel colors in rubber flooring that harmonize so well with modern furniture are practical, too, even with a houseful of children. It takes only a whisk of a broom and an occasional mop to remove surface dirt, so there's no problem about keeping light colors free from soil.

Finds Painted Bricks Keep House Cooler

Scientific experimentation has demonstrated that painted brick structures are cooler and less humid inside than unpainted ones. Such treatment improves the appearance of many not-so-young brick houses and also prevents moisture seepage and further deterioration. Clear waterproof coating are sometimes used which will impede water seepage and still retain the normal appearance of the brick. Various types of both coatings are available at all paint dealers. They are easy to apply.

Avoid Direct Sunlight When Painting House

It's always wise to paint the outside of a structure when direct sunlight does not fall on the surface to which the paint is being applied. Direct sunlight on fresh paint may cause it to dry too fast and wrinkle in warm weather. Get the jump on the sun by painting western surfaces in the early morning. You work on areas with northern and eastern exposure during the middle of the day and tackle the south walls after the sun has left them in the afternoon.

Clean Out All Crevices Before Painting Exterior

When preparing the exterior of a structure for painting, it is important to clean out crevices and cracks around windows, door frames and chimneys with a knife, followed by a stiff whisk broom. Next, a coat of exterior primer should be applied. When the primer is dry, cracks should be packed with caulking compound. This should be allowed to set 48 hours before painting.

Painting Green Wood

When painting unfinished green wood, wipe the surface down with turpentiine before you start to paint. This will soften up the gums in the wood pores so that the paint can sink in and make a good bond. It's also a good idea to use a little additional turp in the paint on wood of this kind.

Don't Crowd Peppers

Give pepper plants plenty of room. Expert growers allow them two and a half feet in a row. Give them plenty of water, also, because they need a lot of it.

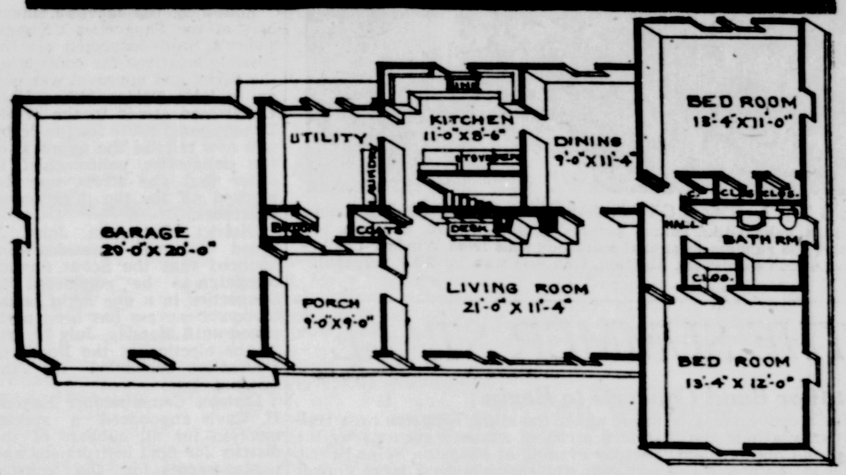

Can Doubles as Sprayer

A paint can has been developed with push-button control for spraying paint on farm machinery to prevent rust.

Lighting Tip

The 100-watt incandescent lamp gives more light than two 50-watt lamps. Some of the energy in a lamp is lost by being conducted as heat through the gas in the bulb.

'The Swan' Charming And Convenient

Rooms	Six
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Six
Cubage:
House	21,500 ft.
Garage	6,300 ft.
Dimensions	66' x 31'

Called "The Swan," today's presentation from the Home of the Week Plan Service is a charmingly designed ranch-style home.

Containing six regular rooms this one-story house also has an enclosed porch which could easily be made into another room.

Straight simple architectural lines distinguish this attractive home. The abundance of good-sized windows adds to both the exterior and interior appeal. Colored roofing can be used to good effect — especially if you have white paint on a shingled or clapboard exterior.

Measurements

Overall measurements of the house and the attached two-car garage are 66 by 31 feet. Cubage of the house is 21,500 feet; cubage of the garage is 6300 feet. You should have at least a 90-foot lot on which to build this house.

Both of the well-ventilated bedrooms are located in the right wing of the house. Each room features abundant closet storage space; the bath is conveniently located between the bedrooms.

Should you need a third bedroom the area set aside as a dining room can be converted into another bedroom. The spacious living room is large enough and so arranged that it can serve as both a living and a dining room.

Also a Study

If you follow the arrangement suggested in the accompanying plan and have bookshelves and a desk built into the back living room wall you can use the further section of the room as a study.

The compact kitchen has been planned with the idea of making kitchen tasks as easy as possible by keeping all appliances and supplies within easy reaching distance. No breakfast area is provided in the kitchen itself.

Utility Room

All of your laundry equipment will easily fit in the utility room, too. You'll find the spacious broom closet a handy storage spot for all of your cleaning supplies and equipment. And, you'll welcome the ready access to the back yard provided by the door in the back wall of the room.

Your heating equipment should be installed in the basement of the house. It should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Avalaible

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Dept. 19, and enclose a self addressed 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Curtains for a Room

Want to know how to choose the right curtains for a room? Look at the walls and floor coverings first and let them influence the amount and kind of design used in the curtains. There may be a color in the wallpaper or rug that you will want to emphasize in the curtains. Or you may decide on plain curtains because there is already enough design in the room in the wallpaper or rug.

Keep Drains Clear

Before freezing weather sets in, be sure that any outside drains in drives or walks are cleaned out. If they start off the season clogged with leaves and dirt they'll soon be completely closed by ice and won't be worth a nickel until warm weather.

Paint Coverage

It is usually estimated that a gallon of outside paint should cover approximately 220 square feet. The exact coverage depends upon the roughness of the wood and its previous treatment.

'Dirt' May Be Mildew

A main cause of discolored paint on houses is mildew.

Careful Crop Rotation Can Control Fungus

The fungus which causes anthracnose of cucumbers and melons can live over on old plant parts in the soil for at least one year, according to vegetable crops pathologists.

Results of disease surveys and experiments by pathologists show that the disease is much more severe in plantings where cucumbers or melons are planted on the same land in successive years. A large part of these losses could have been prevented had growers practiced careful crop rotation, say the pathologists.

Old Locks or Latches Can Be Modernized

Any mortise type lock or latch can be converted into a modern cylindrical lock with keyhole in the doorknob by a new locking doorknob that takes the place of a present knob.

It is installed with nothing more than a screwdriver. The outer knob spins freely when locked and offers no means for tampering. The entire lock is attached on the indoor side. No cutting, drilling or chiseling is needed.

Take It Easy on That Do-It-Yourself Project

Don't be an eager-beaver in your first do-it-yourself projects. Start with simple things. And, above all, take your time. The greatest enemy of the beginner is impatience. He cuts the parts and then he can't wait until he sees the finished product. A hasty assembling job follows . . . and the finished product looks far from finished.

Arborvitae Sheds Leaves

It is natural for the inner leaves of arborvitae to turn brown and drop.

Removing Old Wax

A coating of old wax and dirt may be built up on floors that have been improperly waxed. A commercially prepared waxed-floor cleaner, mixed with water and applied to the floor, is effective in softening and removing this coating before rewaxing.

Stopping Squeaks

Most floor squeaks are caused by flooring nt being nailed firmly to the subfloor, or having worked loose in places. Nailing through the tops of the board is one remedy. Fourpenny finishing nails usually suffice, being countersunk with the nail head holes filled with putty or wood filler.

Disappearance Checked

Chicago, July 9 (AP) — Police today investigated the disappearance of Howard Rushmore, 43, editor of Confidential, a bi-monthly national magazine, who has been missing since early Thursday. Rushmore, who came to Chicago Monday from his home in New York city, failed to keep an appointment yesterday with Detective Frank Heimoski.

Strike Is Settled

Galveston, Tex., July 9 (AP)—A three-week-old strike at North America's only tin smelter was settled last night. The government-owned plant, built during World War 2 by the government and operated by a private firm, is at nearby Texas City. Congress only recently voted more money for its continued operation.

Stassen Defends Ike

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen defended President Eisenhower last night against an alleged implication by Adlai Stevenson that the President is "more interested in public roads and military reserves" than education and teachers. "No implication ever made was more remote from the truth," the President's administrative assistant for disarmament told the National Education Assn.

Softening Old Glue

Old-fashioned furniture glue that was in common use up to a few years ago can usually be softened with hot water or steam. A mixture of half and half hot water and cider vinegar is also very good.

Two -Fabric Treatment

An interesting treatment for the off center window is to use two different fabrics — a printed material of heavier weight on the "wide" side, placed well over on the wall; and a sheer fabric hung close to the window casing on the "narrow" side.

Spacing Shingles

When laying new wood shingles, leaving a quarter-inch space between them to allow for expansion.

Pair Awaits Victims

Detroit, July 9 (AP) — A 17-year-old gun-toting redhead and her 27-year-old suave boy friend were in jail today waiting for a host of stickup victims to try to identify them as the robbers. Held on combined bonds totaling $100,000 are Lora Lee Ritenour, who FBI agents say is a dangerous, money-crazy female, and Louis Emery Teller, a pistol-toting bar-bell enthusiast.

Warren Hutty Heads Business Association

Woodstock, July 9 — The directors of the Woodstock Business Association met at the Information Center, Tuesday night and elected the following officers: Warren Hutty, president; William Hand, vice president; Edward Bauman, secretary and Joseph Deutsch, treasurer.

The business association, it has been reported, is pleased with the number of cars which have stopped at the Information Center to date this summer, asking for such information as to churches, shopping district and location of private homes.

Many of the display cabinets at the Center have been filled with displays by local merchants, and those not yet taken are being used for display of work of local artists.

First Game Set

Woodstock, July 9—The first baseball game of the season of the Olive Legion Baseball League of the Onteora Central School Summer Recreation Program, will be between the Woodstock Jones Boys and West Shokan at West Shokan, on Thursday, July 14, starting at 6:30 p. m. Roger Jones is manager of the Woodstock team and Dick Smith of the West Shokan team.

Highest Gas Prices

Missoula, Mont. (AP)—The man in charge of a Montana Legislature-ordered investigation of gasoline prices said his preliminary studies show that gasoline prices in Montana are the nation's highest, exclusive of taxes. He said Missoula's gas prices, exclusive of taxes, are the highest of any city in the United States. John Vance, counsel for the Montana Trade Commission, said, "Maybe there is a satisfactory explanation. That's what we are trying to find out." The Legislature appropriated $20,000 for the investigation.

Children Are Children

Springfield, Mass. (AP) — Guidance has changed more in 40 years than children, says Francis S. Warner. "In fact, kids basically have hardly changed at all," Warner says, and he should know—retiring after 40 years as school janitor and custodian. The most valuable thing teachers can do in guidance, Warner says, is to manage the two or three mean kids found in every group "so the other children will influence the mean ones instead of vice versa."

Homer Gets Lost

Mattoon, Ill. (AP)—If the pigeon club of Cleveland, Ohio, is missing one pigeon with band number "A.U. 52-L.U. 33" and a tag marked "U 948," the bird is in the hands of Mrs. Harley Snyder. She told police that the pigeon landed in her yard and showed no signs of wanting to leave. Investigation showed it was one of 1,800 homing pigeons released for the annual 500-mile pigeon derby which starts in Mattoon and ends in Cleveland.

Public Patience!

Albquuerque, N. M. (AP)—The driver of a bus is in a sense a public servant "in that he must be more patient and careful than the average driver and must hold his temper" District Judge D. A. Macpherson ruled. He dismissed a $5,000 damage suit brought by a bus driver against a motorist following a fight between the two.

Park Improvement

West Glacier, Mont. (AP) — A million-dollar construction program is under way in Glacier National Park. Supt. J. W. Emmert said $500,000 will be spent on Going-to-the-Sun Highway which bisects the park. It will be the park's largest construction year.

Children Are Children

Springfield, Mass. (AP) — Guidance has changed more in 40 years than children, says Francis S. Warner. "In fact, kids basically have hardly changed at all," Warner says, and he should know—retiring after 40 years as school janitor and custodian. The most valuable thing teachers can do in guidance, Warner says, is to manage the two or three mean kids found in every group "so the other children will influence the mean ones instead of vice versa."

Homer Gets Lost

Mattoon, Ill. (AP)—If the pigeon club of Cleveland, Ohio, is missing one pigeon with band number "A.U. 52-L.U. 33" and a tag marked "U 948," the bird is in the hands of Mrs. Harley Snyder. She told police that the pigeon landed in her yard and showed no signs of wanting to leave. Investigation showed it was one of 1,800 homing pigeons released for the annual 500-mile pigeon derby which starts in Mattoon and ends in Cleveland.

Public Patience!

Albquuerque, N. M. (AP)—The driver of a bus is in a sense a public servant "in that he must be more patient and careful than the average driver and must hold his temper" District Judge D. A. Macpherson ruled. He dismissed a $5,000 damage suit brought by a bus driver against a motorist following a fight between the two.

Park Improvement

West Clacier, Mont. (AP) — A million-dollar construction program is under way in Glacier National Park. Supt. J. W. Emmert said $500,000 will be spent on Going-to-the-Sun Highway which bisects the park. It will be the park's largest construction year.

"To whom it may concern: Should this meet the eye of some young man who desires to marry a farmer's daughter, eighteen years of age, kindly communicate with—."

After reading this, he made haste to write to the girl, offering marriage, and in a few days received this note:

French Assembly Supports Faure On Tunisian Rule

Paris, July 9 (AP)—Responding to an appeal from Premier Edgar Faure, France's National Assembly voted overwhelmingly today for agreements granting Tunisia internal self-government by gradual stages.

The Assembly recorded its approval 540-43 after Faure warned that refusal to carry out France's repeated promises of Tunisian autonomy would lead to distrust of French motives throughout the Arab world and among western nations as well.

"THE TIME of colonialism is finished," Faure declared.

Pierre Mendes-France, making his first appearance in debate since his ouster as premier last February, also urged approval of the agreements which grew out of negotiations he opened when he made his dramatic trip to Tunisia last summer.

At that time, Mendes-France offered local autonomy to the Tunisians in order to bring an end to years of guerrilla warfare by independence-seeking Nationalists in the North African protectorate.

In recent months, violence in Tunisia has ceased almost altogether.

Rules Outlined For County Fair

Answering the question, "Who may enter articles in the Home Department of the Ulster County Fair?", Mrs. William Powers, superintendent, called attention to the rules governing the fair which say that entries are restricted to the residents of Ulster county and must have been in the possession of the owner for at least 30 days previous to the time of showing.

She pointed out that special institutional classes are open only to those, who because of age or ill health, are patients in an institution such as the Ulster County Home, the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, a boarding or nursing home.

SPECIAL institutional premiums will be awarded for the following handmade articles: Metal work, jewelry, felt, leather, embroidered, knitted, tatted, crocheted, hairpin lace and stuffed animals.

Mrs. Powers invites the cooperation of those interested in people confined to institutions in bringing to the attention of such residents the possibility of their making entries and in encouraging them to do so.

Last year the number of such entries was limited and it is hoped the classes will be completely filled this year, thereby giving special satisfaction to those eligible.

He failed to negotiate a curve, went off the highway and struck a guard rail, according to Trooper H. H. Ganss who investigated.

State Allocates Two Youth Grants

The village of New Paltz has been allocated $500 in state aid for a recreation project for a 12-month period and the town of Wawarsing was granted $1,000 according to an announcement by the New York State Youth Commission.

The application for state aid for New Paltz was submitted by Mayor Robert Reid while Supervisor Donald A. Sprague of Wawarsing applied for his township both indicating that their communities will spend the grants during the year to provide a recreation program to include swimming, arts and crafts, checkers, marbles, golf, croquet, tennis and baseball.

FACILITIES to be used in New Paltz include the Central school and New Paltz State Campus school.

In Wawarsing the facilities include the Kerhonkson school, Napanoch school, Ellenville school, Recreation Center, Veterans Hall, Kerhonkson Youth Commission pool, ice skating rink and baseball field.

The recreation committee in New Paltz includes Lee Keator, chairman and Francis J. Connolly, director of recreation.

The committee in Wawarsing includes Donald A. Sprague, Irving Jargowski and Vernon Kelder, co-chairmen and Roland Riegel, Andrew Gray and Morris Kaufman, co-directors of recreation.

Capehart Seeks To Clarify Role Of $1 Year Men

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said today he will seek to clarify this weekend the administration's stand on the role of "dollar a year" men in the peacetime government.

The controversy, highlighted by a special report from Comptroller General Joseph Campbell alleging "laxities" in one instance, has delayed Senate action on extension of the defense production act. This is the basic law providing for economic mobilization for national defense. It is due to expire July 31.

THE SENATE Banking committee renewed its demand yesterday for a ban on using the "dollar a year" men in high administrative or policy making posts despite contentions of Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming that the move would impair preparedness efforts.

Capehart said he would discuss the proposed restrictions again with Flemming during the weekend, to determine whether they can be softened.

Einstein Warning On War Perils Is Made Public

London, July 8 (AP) — A last testament to the world by the late Albert Einstein warning that another war would "threaten the existence of mankind" was released here today.

Earl Russell—the British philosopher better known as Bertrand Russell—made public a statement sponsored by Einstein just before his death April 18 and signed by eight other scientists appealing to all nations to renounce war.

THE THREE-PAGE statement said:

"In view of the fact that in any future war nuclear weapons will certainly be employed, and that such weapons threaten the continued existence of mankind, we urge the governments of the world to realize, and to acknowledge publicly, that their purposes cannot be furthered by a world war, and we urge them, consequently, to find peaceful means for settlement of all matters of dispute between them."

Russell, who was one of the signers, issued the statement at a news conference just nine days before the British, French, Russian and U. S. leaders meet at Geneva to discuss ways of easing world tension in the H-bomb age.

New Paltz Agrees To Building Code

The town of New Paltz is the 166th community in the state to accept the applicability of the State Building Construction Code, according to Brig. Gen. Edward J. McGrew, Jr., chairman of the State Building Code Commission.

There are now 19 cities, 59 towns, and 88 villages, located in every part of the state, which have taken this action. In Ulster county, the city of Kingston and the village of New Paltz had previously passed resolutions of acceptance.

THE STATE CODE now consists of regulations for one- and two-family houses and multiple dwellings. The Commission recently completed a series of conferences on the third portion of the code, which will cover all other types of buildings, such as factories and commercial structures.

The state code is kept constantly up to date by the State Building Code Commission, and municipal officials administer and enforce it in the same manner as a local code.

First Troops Arrive

Ashiya Air Base, Japan, July 9 (AP)—Three huge C124 Globemasters loaded with paratroopers from the United States arrived today in the vanguard of the largest aerial troop movement in history.

MAY BE BARRED FROM U. S.—Three former American soldiers who chose communism after they were captured in Korea and then changed their minds may be barred from the U. S. if they worked for the Red Chinese government, informed sources report. Two of the three are William Cowart (left), of Monticello, Ark., and Otho Bell (right), of Olympia, Wash. (NEA Telephotos)

Will Decide . . .

boost monthly charges for most homes by 75 cents and for most business phones by $2. The commission last October refused to rehear the case.

THE ISSUE is whether the PSC should have considered the current replacement of the company property, rather than original cost, in deciding the rate request. The Appellate Division, in ordering last month that the case be reopened, held that the commission had erred in refusing to hear evidence on replacement cost.

The Court of Appeals granted Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits permission to intervene on behalf of the commission.

In the other case involving the telephone company, a New York city real estate concern, Jacob Goodman & Co., had asked that the utility be required to make a distinction between dialed calls within the city, which are subject to the sales tax, and those dialed to neighboring Nassau and Westchester counties, which are not taxable.

THE AUTOMATIC dial system does not now distinguish between the calls.

By a 4-2 vote the Court of Appeals upheld a finding of the Appellate Division that the Public Service Commission should decide. Associate Judge Adrian Burke, former New York city corporation counsel, took no part in the decision.

The two killers whose convictions were upheld were John F. Roche, 27, who confessed five slayings, and Leonardo Salemi, 44, who shot a man in a barroom.

Salemi is to die the week of Aug. 15 and Roche the following week.

ROCHE WAS convicted of the rape-slaying of Dorothy Westwater, 14, on June 2, 1954. Police said he bludgeoned her with a piece of pipe.

He was convicted in General Sessions Court in New York city last Nov. 9. He refused to testify on his own behalf and told his court-appointed attorneys he had no desire to live. He confessed killing four other persons, police said.

The Court of Appeals upheld Roche's conviction unanimously, without opinion.

Salemi was convicted in General Sessions Court June 24, 1953, in the killing of Walter Forlenza of Manhattan in 1952.

Dispute Is . . .

Union. The three were Lt. Col. John S. Vinson of Milton, Mass.; Capt. William R. Stroud of Kewanee, Ill.; and Capt. Walter Mule of Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Expulsion of the Americans was for allegedly improper activities, not publicly specified.

The three have already returned to the United States for reassignment to new posts by the Pentagon.

As far as could be learned from officials who were reluctant to talk about the matter, the United States has no plans for retaliating against the Soviet Union by ordering several Soviet Embassy aides to leave the country.

RUSSIA and the United States in the past adopted a tit for tat policy whenever such incidents came up. Nearly a year ago Russia ousted an American lieutenant colonel and a major attached to the American Embassy, accusing them of improper activity including espionage. The State Department promptly denied the charges. It said Russia's move was dictated by a desire to retaliate because the United States had kicked out three Soviet diplomats earlier in the year on similar grounds.

Schenectady Man

liam Slover and Floyd LaForge, dispatched to investigate, apprehended Kelleman on West Chestnut street near Montrepose Cemetery, where he was arrested by officers Emmick and LaForge on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and driving without special lenses, the report said.

AT 3 A. M., TODAY, police received a call from William Buckman, 59 West Chester street, who came to headquarters and reported that his 1953 sedan was the car hit by Kelleman. Mr. Buckman said his car sustained damage to the left front side, lights and possibly other damege as it was parked to the curb in front of his home.

Dr. Harry C. McNamara of Hurley examined Kelleman and gave him a blood test, police said.

Kelleman was taken to Kingston Hospital at his own request, police said, and was released. He was held overnight at the Ulster county jail.

Transit Permits

ately to American authorities here. British sources said the Hong Kong government's position has been to make certain that the men would not be left on its hands through some dodge that would prevent them being handed over directly to U. S. officials.

The government spokesman earlier explained that the possession of transit permits would enable the men to stay in Hong Kong until they could arrange their own transportation and would permit them to try for entry into some other country than the United States.

THE THREE MEN—Korean war prisoners who first chose to remain in Red China and later changed their minds—had been scheduled to cross the Hong Kong border into British territory today. But Peiping radio announced last night that their departure had been postponed.

The broadcast blamed the change of plans on the failure of British authorities to supply the permits. The men reportedly are now in Canton, awaiting final arrangements for their departure from Red China. Peiping has identified them as Lewis W. Griggs, Jacksonville, Tex.; O. G. Bell, Olympia, Wash., and William A. Cowart, Monticello, Ark.

Would Free Vets

tion's belief in the need for reserve duty by "individuals who have served with the active forces." However, Wilson assured Russell the Pentagon plans to use the least possible "enforcement measures."

Armed Services Committee public hearings on the program to build a combat-ready reserve force of 2,900,000 by 1960 were in recess until Monday. Defense officials were scheduled to testify at that time.

There appeared to be little, if any, Senate opposition to an administration plan to recruit up to 250,000 teen-age volunteers a year for six months of active duty, followed by 7½ years active training in active reserve units. The House version of the reserve bill contains such a provision.

INSTEAD, Senate differences appeared to be centering on a requirement that former draftees or enlistees must also take active reserve training.

Russell has urged elimination of compulsory reserve service for veterans, suggesting instead a $400 bonus to encourage such ex-servicemen to volunteer for three years with a combat unit of the army or marine corps reserve.

Plans Move . . .

for spending during the next 12 months.

The House Appropriations Committee also delivered a sharp attack on the Defense Department for breaking what the committee termed a written understanding that 420 million dollars of uncommitted or unobligated military aid funds would not be carried over into the new fiscal year.

Mansfield meanwhile sent a formal appeal for investigation of the department's action to Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee which will start hearings on the money bill probably next week.

In an accompanying statement, Mansfield said he hoped the committee would "reduce the amounts available for military aid so that our budget need not be strained simply because estimates of the amounts they can obligate in a fiscal year are too optimistic."

again after serving 16 years as alderman and alderman-at-large, preferring, as he announced at the time "to let some returning veteran from World War 2 have a chance at serving in the post."

ONE OF THE notable achievements of his career was introduction of a resolution in the Common Council, when he was alderman of the Third ward, to permit payment of taxes in installments. He argued a year for the change, which was voted as a local law by the council in 1933.

His early public service began in the depression years when many men were unemployed and he played a vital role in effecting a plan to exchange food, fuel and clothing for labor.

To relieve unemployment he introduced a council resolution to improve the sewer system under the plan of consulting engineers emanating from a survey made during the administration of Edgar J. Dempsey. The resolution was adopted and forwarded to the Department of Public Works.

A VETERAN of World War 1, he was with the 32nd Division, 107th Field Signal Battalion, along the Meuse Argonne and also served in the Army of Occupation, stationed at Coblenz, Germany. He is a member of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, and also is affiliated with Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks.

Mr. Schwenk served in the New York State Guard during World War 2 as company commander and later as commander of the First Battalion comprising two companies and a headquarters detachment in Kingston, also a company at Catskill. He served as officer-in-charge-and-control of the New York State Armory here.

DURING the Korean War, he was called back to active service in the New York Guard, by the governor, to form a cadre of officers and enlisted men.

In private life, Mr. Schwenk is employed by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in its communications department handling press, radio and television long lines. He has been with the firm 30 years.

Mr. Schwenk is married to the former Mary Shine. They have two daughters, Virginia E., a teacher in the George Washington School, and Eileen R., a school nurse. Virginia is a graduate of New Paltz State Teachers College, and Eileen of Salve Regina College, New Port, R. I., which is affiliated with St. Joseph's Hospital, Providence, R. I., where she trained.

Held for Nassau Police

Daniel Desmond, 50, of Ulster Park, was arrested yesterday by Deputies Earl Conro and Benjamin Newkirk of the Ulster county sheriff's office for Nassau county police on a fraudulent check charge, according to a report in the sheriff's office here. He was turned over to Nassau police.

Arch Ward Dies, Founded 'Star' Game

Chicago, July 9 (AP) — Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, died today.

Ward was internationally known for the sports events he promoted. Among them were Golden Gloves boxing tournaments, Silver Skates ice skating meets and the annual All-Star football game.

Ward, 58, also conceived the idea of matching the best players in the National League against the top performers in the American League in the All-Star baseball game.

Battle Looms

They thus are publicly at odds with Carmine G. De Sapio, Tammany leader and Democratic national committeeman, and state chairman Michael H. Prendergast, who have come out for Harriman.

While Harriman himself has said he is for Stevenson, the position of De Sapio and Prendergast indicates at least a possible holdout of New York's key 97-vote delegation at next year's Chicago convention.

Such a development could cause Stevenson trouble if he goes in pitching for the nomination. So far, Stevenson hasn't said whether he will seek another try at the presidency.

THE SUPPORT of Wagner and Lehman would give Stevenson a toe-hold within the New York delegation, but neither of them apparently is in a position to do much to overcome organization control.

Stevenson needed the bulk of New York's votes to win the 1952 nomination on the third roll call. These votes had gone to Harriman on two previous ballots before he stepped aside.

If New York is a holdout next year, many Democrats think Stevenson would find the going tougher than it was in 1952.

THEN HARRIMAN was not generally regarded, outside of his own camp, as having any real chance for the nomination. But since his election last fall as governor of New York, Harriman apparently has picked up strength in other states.

Even if a down-to-the-wire convention battle fails to materialize between Stevenson and Harriman, the present prospect of a contest seems likely to increase the field of aspirants, hoping for the lightning to strike them if a stalemate should develop.

It also could bring out a larger than normal crop of state "favorite son" candidates, possibly denying Stevenson some early ballot support he might need to start a swing in his direction.

Charged With Larceny

Albert C. Turner, 31, of RFD East Walden, who was arrested yesterday in the town of Gardiner charged with grand larceny second degree in the theft of an automobile, was to be arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Marion McDowell of the town of Gardiner. State police of the Highland station, who made the arrest, charged that Turner took an automobile belonging to Thomas Wygant of 32 Johnson avenue while Wygant and his family were in swimming.

THEY ARE EXPECTED to be turned over for prosecution by the Federal Communications Commission as soon as a warrant is obtained from a federal judge.

Under commission regulations, a hoaxer faking a disaster at sea faces a $10,000 fine, a year in prison or both.

The distress signal said the 40-foot fishing boat Blue Star was sinking with 21 persons aboard after striking a "strange object" 30 miles off Barnegat, N. J.

THE MESSAGE said a boiler room explosion set the boat ablaze, blocking access to life preservers. The last radio telephoned message at 3:05 a. m. (EDT) said tersely that the Blue Star was going down and a foreign submarine was picking up survivors.

Coast Guard air and sea craft patrolled some 4,000 square miles of the sea in the area pinpointed in the messages only to find an oil slick and a torn, unmarked lifejacket bobbing in the water. Neither was necessarily an indication of a disaster, the Coast Guard said.

THE SEARCH, which cost the government $50,000, was called off after 30 hours, when it was ascertained that all boats listed as the Blue Star were accounted for, no submarine was in the area and that no calls from relatives were received by the Coast Guard.

stice" and declared the government "must take action in order to safeguard the integrity of the kingdom."

Sources close to the South Viet Nam government regard the outbreak as more serious diplomatically than militarily. Vietnamese officials said that for several weeks Indian Premier Nehru, at French insistence, has been seeking an agreement by the Pathet Lao of Sem Neua and Phong Saly.

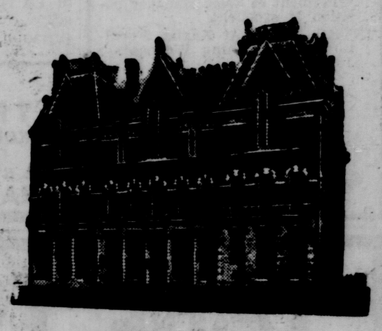

The dissidents argue that the country's true king is Prince Souphamouvong, rather than the incumbent King Sisavong Vong. Souphamouvong is a half brother of the present Laotian prime minister, Prince Souvana Phouma.

The Pathet Lao and Vietminh guerrillas in northern Laos have long been linked ideologically and militarily.

Under the Geneva armistice the Pathet Lao were to concentrate in the northern provinces of Phong Saly and Sem Neua.

Pending a political settlement, they are free to move between the two provinces in a corridor along the border between Laos and Viet Nam.

French Assembly Supports Faure On Tunisian Rule

Paris, July 9 (AP)—Responding to an appeal from Premier Edgar Faure, France's National Assembly voted overwhelmingly today for agreements granting Tunisia internal self-government by gradual stages.

The Assembly recorded its approval 540-43 after Faure warned that refusal to carry out France's repeated promises of Tunisian autonomy would lead to distrust of French motives throughout the Arab world and among western nations as well.

"THE TIME of colonialism is finished," Faure declared.

Pierre Mendes-France, making his first appearance in debate since his ouster as premier last February, also urged approval of the agreements which grew out of negotiations he opened when he made his dramatic trip to Tunisia last summer.

At that time, Mendes-France offered local autonomy to the Tunisians in order to bring an end to years of guerrilla warfare by independence-seeking Nationalists in the North African protectorate.

In recent months, violence in Tunisia has ceased almost altogether.

Rules Outlined For County Fair

Answering the question, "Who may enter articles in the Home Department of the Ulster County Fair?", Mrs. William Powers, superintendent, called attention to the rules governing the fair which say that entries are restricted to the residents of Ulster county and must have been in the possession of the owner for at least 30 days previous to the time of showing.

She pointed out that special institutional classes are open only to those, who because of age or ill health, are patients in an institution such as the Ulster County Home, the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, a boarding or nursing home.

SPECIAL institutional premiums will be awarded for the following handmade articles: Metal work, jewelry, felt, leather, embroidered, knitted, tatted, crocheted, hairpin lace and stuffed animals.

Mrs. Powers invites the cooperation of those interested in people confined to institutions in bringing to the attention of such residents the possibility of their making entries and in encouraging them to do so.

Last year the number of such entries was limited and it is hoped the classes will be completely filled this year, thereby giving special satisfaction to those eligible.

Hall Predicts Big Win for Ike in '56

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—The winning team of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon should be retained by the Republicans at the 1956 National Convention, says Leonard W. Hall, GOP national chairman.

"Mr. Eisenhower is as popular as he ever was," Hall told a news conference yesterday. "He will win as big in 1956 as he did in 1952."

Hall said he is working as national chairman "on the assumption that Mr. Eisenhower will seek reelection next year." The President has not announced his intentions for 1956.

Hall, who was in Chicago for a meeting of Republican campaign contributors, also said the Republicans will regain control of Congress next year.

State Allocates Two Youth Grants

The village of New Paltz has been allocated $500 in state aid for a recreation project for a 12-month period and the town of Wawarsing was granted $1,000 according to an announcement by the New York State Youth Commission.

The application for state aid for New Paltz was submitted by Mayor Robert Reid while Supervisor Donald A. Sprague of Wawarsing applied for his township both indicating that their communities will spend the grants during the year to provide a recreation program to include swimming, arts and crafts, checkers, marbles, golf, croquet, tennis and baseball.

FACILITIES to be used in New Paltz include the Central school and New Paltz State Campus school.

In Wawarsing the facilities include the Kerhonkson school, Napanoch school, Ellenville school, Recreation Center, Veterans Hall, Kerhonkson Youth Commission pool, ice skating rink and baseball field.

The recreation committee in New Paltz includes Lee Keator, chairman and Francis J. Connolly, director of recreation.

The committee in Wawarsing includes Donald A. Sprague, Irving Jargowski and Vernon Kelder, co-chairmen and Roland Riegel, Andrew Gray and Morris Kaufman, co-directors of recreation.

Capehart Seeks To Clarify Role Of $1 Year Men

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said today he will seek to clarify this weekend the administration's stand on the role of "dollar a year" men in the peacetime government.

The controversy, highlighted by a special report from Comptroller General Joseph Campbell alleging "laxities" in one instance, has delayed Senate action on extension of the defense production act. This is the basic law providing for economic mobilization for national defense. It is due to expire July 31.

THE SENATE Banking committee renewed its demand yesterday for a ban on using the "dollar a year" men in high administrative or policy making posts despite contentions of Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming that the move would impair preparedness efforts.

Capehart said he would discuss the proposed restrictions again with Flemming during the weekend, to determine whether they can be softened.

Einstein Warning On War Perils Is Made Public

London, July 8 (AP) — A last testament to the world by the late Albert Einstein warning that another war would "threaten the existence of mankind" was released here today.

Earl Russell—the British philosopher better known as Bertrand Russell—made public a statement sponsored by Einstein just before his death April 18 and signed by eight other scientists appealing to all nations to renounce war.

THE THREE-PAGE statement said:

"In view of the fact that in any future war nuclear weapons will certainly be employed, and that such weapons threaten the continued existence of mankind, we urge the governments of the world to realize, and to acknowledge publicly, that their purposes cannot be furthered by a world war, and we urge them, consequently, to find peaceful means for settlement of all matters of dispute between them."

Russell, who was one of the signers, issued the statement at a news conference just nine days before the British, French, Russian and U. S. leaders meet at Geneva to discuss ways of easing world tension in the H-bomb age.

New Paltz Agrees To Building Code

The town of New Paltz is the 166th community in the state to accept the applicability of the State Building Construction Code, according to Brig. Gen. Edward J. McGrew, Jr., chairman of the State Building Code Commission.

There are now 19 cities, 59 towns, and 88 villages, located in every part of the state, which have taken this action. In Ulster county, the city of Kingston and the village of New Paltz had previously passed resolutions of acceptance.

THE STATE CODE now consists of regulations for one- and two-family houses and multiple dwellings. The Commission recently completed a series of conferences on the third portion of the code, which will cover all other types of buildings, such as factories and commercial structures.

The state code is kept constantly up to date by the State Building Code Commission, and municipal officials administer and enforce it in the same manner as a local code.

boost monthly charges for most homes by 75 cents and for most business phones by $2. The commission last October refused to rehear the case.

THE ISSUE is whether the PSC should have considered the current replacement of the company property, rather than original cost, in deciding the rate request. The Appellate Division, in ordering last month that the case be reopened, held that the commission had erred in refusing to hear evidence on replacement cost.

The Court of Appeals granted Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits permission to intervene on behalf of the commission.

In the other case involving the telephone company, a New York city real estate concern, Jacob Goodman & Co., had asked that the utility be required to make a distinction between dialed calls within the city, which are subject to the sales tax, and those dialed to neighboring Nassau and Westchester counties, which are not taxable.

THE AUTOMATIC dial system does not now distinguish between the calls.

By a 4-2 vote the Court of Appeals upheld a finding of the Appellate Division that the Public Service Commission should decide. Associate Judge Adrian Burke, former New York city corporation counsel, took no part in the decision.

The two killers whose convictions were upheld were John F. Roche, 27, who confessed five slayings, and Leonardo Salemi, 44, who shot a man in a barroom.

Salemi is to die the week of Aug. 15 and Roche the following week.

ROCHE WAS convicted of the rape-slaying of Dorothy Westwater, 14, on June 2, 1954. Police said he bludgeoned her with a piece of pipe.

He was convicted in General Sessions Court in New York city last Nov. 9. He refused to testify on his own behalf and told his court-appointed attorneys he had no desire to live. He confessed killing four other persons, police said.

The Court of Appeals upheld Roche's conviction unanimously, without opinion.

Salemi was convicted in General Sessions Court June 24, 1953, in the killing of Walter Forlenza of Manhattan in 1952.

Union. The three were Lt. Col. John S. Vinson of Milton, Mass.; Capt. William R. Stroud of Kewanee, Ill.; and Capt. Walter Mule of Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Expulsion of the Americans was for allegedly improper activities, not publicly specified.

The three have already returned to the United States for reassignment to new posts by the Pentagon.

As far as could be learned from officials who were reluctant to talk about the matter, the United States has no plans for retaliating against the Soviet Union by ordering several Soviet Embassy aides to leave the country.

RUSSIA and the United States in the past adopted a tit for tat policy whenever such incidents came up. Nearly a year ago Russia ousted an American lieutenant colonel and a major attached to the American Embassy, accusing them of improper activity including espionage. The State Department promptly denied the charges. It said Russia's move was dictated by a desire to retaliate because the United States had kicked out three Soviet diplomats earlier in the year on similar grounds.

Schenectady Man

liam Slover and Floyd LaForge, dispatched to investigate, apprehended Kelleman on West Chestnut street near Montrepose Cemetery, where he was arrested by officers Emmick and LaForge on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and driving without special lenses, the report said.

AT 3 A. M., TODAY, police received a call from William Buckman, 59 West Chester street, who came to headquarters and reported that his 1953 sedan was the car hit by Kelleman. Mr. Buckman said his car sustained damage to the left front side, lights and possibly other damege as it was parked to the curb in front of his home.

Dr. Harry C. McNamara of Hurley examined Kelleman and gave him a blood test, police said.

Kelleman was taken to Kingston Hospital at his own request, police said, and was released. He was held overnight at the Ulster county jail.

Transit Permits

ately to American authorities here. British sources said the Hong Kong government's position has been to make certain that the men would not be left on its hands through some dodge that would prevent them being handed over directly to U. S. officials.

The government spokesman earlier explained that the possession of transit permits would enable the men to stay in Hong Kong until they could arrange their own transportation and would permit them to try for entry into some other country than the United States.

THE THREE MEN—Korean war prisoners who first chose to remain in Red China and later changed their minds—had been scheduled to cross the Hong Kong border into British territory today. But Peiping radio announced last night that their departure had been postponed.

The broadcast blamed the change of plans on the failure of British authorities to supply the permits. The men reportedly are now in Canton, awaiting final arrangements for their departure from Red China. Peiping has identified them as Lewis W. Griggs, Jacksonville, Tex.; O. G. Bell, Olympia, Wash., and William A. Cowart, Monticello, Ark.

There appeared to be little, if any, Senate opposition to an administration plan to recruit up to 250,000 teen-age volunteers a year for six months of active duty, followed by 7½ years active training in active reserve units. The House version of the reserve bill contains such a provision.

Favor Schwenk

again after serving 16 years as alderman and alderman-at-large, preferring, as he announced at the time "to let some returning veteran from World War 2 have a chance at serving in the post."

ONE OF THE notable achievements of his career was introduction of a resolution in the Common Council, when he was alderman of the Third ward, to permit payment of taxes in installments. He argued a year for the change, which was voted as a local law by the council in 1933.

His early public service began in the depression years when many men were unemployed and he played a vital role in effecting a plan to exchange food, fuel and clothing for labor.

To relieve unemployment he introduced a council resolution to improve the sewer system under the plan of consulting engineers emanating from a survey made during the administration of Edgar J. Dempsey. The resolution was adopted and forwarded to the Department of Public Works.

A VETERAN of World War 1, he was with the 32nd Division, 107th Field Signal Battalion, along the Meuse Argonne and also served in the Army of Occupation, stationed at Coblenz, Germany. He is a member of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, and also is affiliated with Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks.

Mr. Schwenk served in the New York State Guard during World War 2 as company commander and later as commander of the First Battalion comprising two companies and a headquarters detachment in Kingston, also a company at Catskill. He served as officer-in-charge-and-control of the New York State Armory here.

DURING the Korean War, he was called back to active service in the New York Guard, by the governor, to form a cadre of officers and enlisted men.

In private life, Mr. Schwenk is employed by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in its communications department handling press, radio and television long lines. He has been with the firm 30 years.

Mr. Schwenk is married to the former Mary Shine. They have two daughters, Virginia E., a teacher in the George Washington School, and Eileen R., a school nurse. Virginia is a graduate of New Paltz State Teachers College, and Eileen of Salve Regina College, New Port, R. I., which is affiliated with St. Joseph's Hospital, Providence, R. I., where she trained.

Held for Nassau Police

Daniel Desmond, 50, of Ulster Park, was arrested yesterday by Deputies Earl Conro and Benjamin Newkirk of the Ulster county sheriff's office for Nassau county police on a fraudulent check charge, according to a report in the sheriff's office here. He was turned over to Nassau police.

Arch Ward Dies, Founded 'Star' Game

Chicago, July 9 (AP) — Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, died today.

Ward was internationally known for the sports events he promoted. Among them were Golden Gloves boxing tournaments, Silver Skates ice skating meets and the annual All-Star football game.

Ward, 58, also conceived the idea of matching the best players in the National League against the top performers in the American League in the All-Star baseball game.

Battle Looms

They thus are publicly at odds with Carmine G. De Sapio, Tammany leader and Democratic national committeeman, and state chairman Michael H. Prendergast, who have come out for Harriman.

While Harriman himself has said he is for Stevenson, the position of De Sapio and Prendergast indicates at least a possible holdout of New York's key 97-vote delegation at next year's Chicago convention.

Such a development could cause Stevenson trouble if he goes in pitching for the nomination. So far, Stevenson hasn't said whether he will seek another try at the presidency.

THE SUPPORT of Wagner and Lehman would give Stevenson a toe-hold within the New York delegation, but neither of them apparently is in a position to do much to overcome organization control.

Stevenson needed the bulk of New York's votes to win the 1952 nomination on the third roll call. These votes had gone to Harriman on two previous ballots before he stepped aside.

If New York is a holdout next year, many Democrats think Stevenson would find the going tougher than it was in 1952.

THEN HARRIMAN was not generally regarded, outside of his own camp, as having any real chance for the nomination. But since his election last fall as governor of New York, Harriman apparently has picked up strength in other states.

Even if a down-to-the-wire convention battle fails to materialize between Stevenson and Harriman, the present prospect of a contest seems likely to increase the field of aspirants, hoping for the lightning to strike them if a stalemate should develop.

It also could bring out a larger than normal crop of state "favorite son" candidates, possibly denying Stevenson some early ballot support he might need to start a swing in his direction.

Charged With Larceny

Albert C. Turner, 31, of RFD East Walden, who was arrested yesterday in the town of Gardiner charged with grand larceny second degree in the theft of an automobile, was to be arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Marion McDowell of the town of Gardiner. State police of the Highland station, who made the arrest, charged that Turner took an automobile belonging to Thomas Wygant of 32 Johnson avenue while Wygant and his family were in swimming.

THEY ARE EXPECTED to be turned over for prosecution by the Federal Communications Commission as soon as a warrant is obtained from a federal judge.

Under commission regulations, a hoaxer faking a disaster at sea faces a $10,000 fine, a year in prison or both.

The distress signal said the 40-foot fishing boat Blue Star was sinking with 21 persons aboard after striking a "strange object" 30 miles off Barnegat, N. J.

THE MESSAGE said a boiler room explosion set the boat ablaze, blocking access to life preservers. The last radio telephoned message at 3:05 a. m. (EDT) said tersely that the Blue Star was going down and a foreign submarine was picking up survivors.

Coast Guard air and sea craft patrolled some 4,000 square miles of the sea in the area pinpointed in the messages only to find an oil slick and a torn, unmarked lifejacket bobbing in the water. Neither was necessarily an indication of a disaster, the Coast Guard said.

THE SEARCH, which cost the government $50,000, was called off after 30 hours, when it was ascertained that all boats listed as the Blue Star were accounted for, no submarine was in the area and that no calls from relatives were received by the Coast Guard.

stice" and declared the government "must take action in order to safeguard the integrity of the kingdom."

Sources close to the South Viet Nam government regard the outbreak as more serious diplomatically than militarily. Vietnamese officials said that for several weeks Indian Premier Nehru, at French insistence, has been seeking an agreement by the Pathet Lao of Sem Neua and Phong Saly.

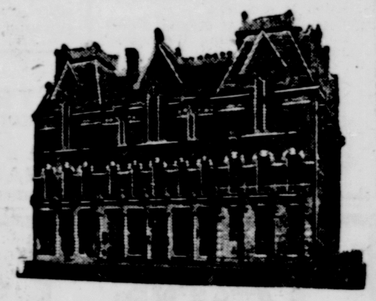

The dissidents argue that the country's true king is Prince Souphamouvong, rather than the incumbent King Sisavong Vong. Souphamouvong is a half brother of the present Laotian prime minister, Prince Souvana Phouma.

The Pathet Lao and Vietminh guerrillas in northern Laos have long been linked ideologically and militarily.

Under the Geneva armistice the Pathet Lao were to concentrate in the northern provinces of Phong Saly and Sem Neua.

Pending a political settlement, they are free to move between the two provinces in a corridor along the border between Laos and Viet Nam.

Giants Capture Americn Title, Down Dodger Players, 4-1

Walt Harder bested Gary Barnes in a pitching duel at the 156th Field Artillery diamond last night as Electrol Giants captured the first half championship of the American Little League. The Sprague Dodgers were on the short end of the 4-1 score.

The Dodgers finished the round only one game behind the leaders. The team had moved into a tie for first place the previous night by beating the Moose Red Sox, 9-1.

The standings:

American LL
Team	Won	Lost
Electrol Giants	8	1
Sprague Dodgers	7	2
Moose Red Sox	2	7
Lions Yankees	1	8

Harder gave up only three hits and Barnes allowed four. Both struck out nine. The winning hurler walked three and the loser two.

THE GIANTS drew first blood with a single run in the second inning. The "Jints" added three big scores in the third. The Dodgers tallied in the fourth.

Vince Meleski's double, following a walk to Don Dittus, produced the first Giant run.

Vince Smeeds singled to begin the Giants' third-inning uprising. He scooted to third on an error by the Dodger outfield.

After Tom Gardner was retired, Joe Uhl belted a double, scoring Smeeds. A throwing error allowed Uhl to score and Harder to get on base. Harder came around on Joe Fiore's hit.

A WALK to Tony Ciani, a steal of second and singles by Dave Holly and Wayne Elmendorf resulted in the Dodgers' sole score.

This rally ended when the Giants came up with a double play, Uhl snagging a popup and pegging to first in time to catch the runner.

A walk, a stolen base and a throwing error gave the Hawks a 12-11 victory over the Crows in a Jaycee Little League game last night at Forsyth Park.

The contest was a continuation of an 11-11 tie game Wednesday night which was called after the regulation six innings because of darkness.

Crows' pitcher Don Hughes struck out the side in the seventh frame. Hughes whiffed the first two men he faced in the eighth. Then he walked Dave Burns.

BURNS PILFERED second base, and when catcher Bob Wells pegged into center field, he came around to score.

Joe Burns, the Hawks' hurler, choked a brief Crows rally in the bottom of the eighth, fanning three in a row after Bill Winter had led off with a single.

Hughes' second inning home run highlighted Wednesday's tie game.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

We'd like you to meet the newest addition to the Freeman editorial staff, who will serve as assistant to the sports editor, who is the guy who occupies this space from time to time.

The name is Charles "Chuck" Nord, a native of Pawtucket, R. I., who spent most of his youth at Wappingers Falls and graduated from Wappingers Central in 1952.

While at WC, Charlie was on the varsity track squad three years, running the quarter, half mile and mile. He also played one year of varsity soccer, managed the football team two years and was boys athletic treasurer for varsity sports for two years.

Nord is a three-year veteran in the toy department of the newspaper business, all with the Poughkeepsie New Yorker, where he and George Palmateer struggled valiantly to elevate Sam Kalloch and the Poughkeepsie Pioneers to athletic preeminence in the mid-Hudson area. He is also a junior oarsman and pulls the bow oar for the Poughkeepsie Rowing Club.

Seen through the bobby socker's eye, he is slim, 20, eligible and a bit of a clothes horse. What we really like about him is that he roots for the Dodgers, glory be! Having been surrounded by Giant rooters all these years it's a pleasure to have him around. We hope you'll extend a nice Kingston welcome to him when he gets around to see you.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Joining Dick McCarthy and yours truly on the Yankee side in our editorial room is another newcomer to our staff, Albert J. Cawein of Malden. It's nice to have Al around, too. Now the Giant fans occupy only 97 per cent of the space in the building. . . . Look for Don Bisplinghoff to hit the golf big time. . . . They called him The Blister in England because they couldn't pronounce his name. . . . Don't forget the big stock show on the Rondout Sunday. . . . Commodore Joe Huber of the KPBA promises the water skiers, positively, for the 1956 regatta. . . . That annual 50 Club field day for kiddies run into volume production. Club officials estimated that the kiddies consumed 2600 Dixie cups, 500 popsicles, 160 cases of soda and 2400 hot dogs. The youngest boy traveling the longest distance to compete in the races was Anthony Aurigemma of Marlborough. Formerly a cerebral palsy victim he ran in the sprints and won a trophy.

• Of Men and Mice:

Al Giannotti of the Saugerties LL Giants cracked a league record with his ninth homer of the season. The former high of eight was held by Don Mormile. . . . Annual dinner for old and new members of the executive board of the Kingston Bowling Association will be held Thursday (July 14) at Twaalfskill. . . . The signing of Big Bob Shelightner by the New York Giants points up the Giant strangehold on mid-Hudson valley scholastic talent. In 1954 they signed Bobby Reed of Millbrook; Wilson Miller and Dan Bertolette of Arlington; Bob McKenna of Poughkeepsie and Joe Benjamin of Saugerties. Maybe Bob Maines is next. Incidentally, the battery of Maines and Shelightner will be on display tonight at the stadium. . . . Choice Murray Olderman quip: Harry Grayson's "firing" The Lip didn't surprise Frankie Frisch. The Old Flash says Grayson has been doing it every July for years.

Two Marks Set At Goshen Track

Goshen, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—The grand circuit shifts to Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, N. Y. Monday for a week of rich stakes after stars of the "Roarin' Grand" established two track records in five days of racing at Historic Track.

Childs Hanover, a leading candidate for the August 3 renewal of the Hambletonian, hung up the first mark Thursday when he trotted one heat of the Dickerson Cup—won by Scott Frost—in 2:04 3/5. That was a new mark for three-year old trotters over the half-mile oval.

Then yesterday Quick Chief from the Farmstead Acres of Brookville, N. Y. established a new standard of 2:01 for three-year old pacers in winning the Orange County Cup. He paced the second mile in 2:01 4/5. The old mark was 2:10 2/5.

Kimberly Kid from Leonard Buck's Allwood Stables of Far Hills, N. J. won the $7,000 Titan Free-For-All trot in 2:05 3/5 and 2:03 2/5.

Maines, who has pitched a pair of one-hitters in the City League, will probably be opposed by Corky Mullins, former Marlboro High school ace.

If Mullins doesn't start for the Hilly City club, Carmen Donato or Joe Garnot are the next choices.

BOB SHELIGHTNER, recently signed by the New York Giants, will be Maines' battery mate.

Gene Mac Cops Westbury Feature

Westbury, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Gene Mac rushed up on the outside with driver Clint Hodgins to take the lead just after reaching the quarter-mile mark and held command the remainder of the way to win the $7,500 Amagansett Free-For-All trot last night at Roosevelt Raceway.

Gene Mac trotted the mile and a sixteenth in 2:12 and paid $24, $9.50 and $4.70 for finishing a neck in front of Lord Steward, driven by Dick Williams. Third went to Gayleway, handled by Clyde Tisher.

Shields Wins

State Golf In Semis

Jamestown, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Two favorites who once wore the championship crown were challenged by two newcomers today as the semi-finals of the 33rd New York State Amateur golf tournament opened at the Moon Brook Country Club.

Bill Shields of Albany, 28-year-old champion in 1951 and 1952, teed off for the first 36-hole match with Bobby Hill of Rochester, a 25-year-old business student discharged from the army only two weeks ago.

Tommy Goodwin of Rye, a links veteran who won the first of his four titles in 1932 and his last as recently as 1953, was paired against Bill Grandin in Jamestown, the host club's remaining favorite.

Grandin, a 29-year-old, 220-pounder was the former country club champion at Titusville, Pa., and reached the quarter-finals in the Pennsylvania State Amateur tourney in 1952.

The opening round over the hilly 6,655-yard course began at 9:30 a. m. and the afternoon rounds at 2. Par is 36-35—71.

Hill, who plans to return to the University of Alabama for his senior year in the fall, blasted his way into the semi-finals yesterday with an easy 5 and 4 quarter-finals victory over Lyn Wilson of Buffalo. He won his earlier fourth round match with Manny Nordone of Syracuse 2 and 1.

In his match with Wilson, Hill was four under par when he closed it out on the 14th. It was his best round of the tournament.

SHIELDS EASILY whipped John Quinzi of Rochester, who won his first three rounds in extra holes, in the fourth round, 5 and 3, and then went on to squeeze by Walter Lynch Jr. of Utica, 1 up on the final green.

Knych drove into the woods on the 18th, made the green in four but rimmed the cup trying to halve the hole. Shields had a one-over-par 5 after his drive was roughed.

Goodwin advanced to the semi-finals with a 4 and 2 victory over Ronnie Terpak of Endicott, an 18-year-old high school student and a semi-finalist last year, after he won his fourth round from Ralph Yando of Poughkeepsie 2 and 1.

GOODWIN SCORED an even par on the first nine in his match against Terpak and was four up at the turn. He lost the 10th and the 13th, but holed out in a par 14th and scored a birdie 3 on the 16th to end the match.

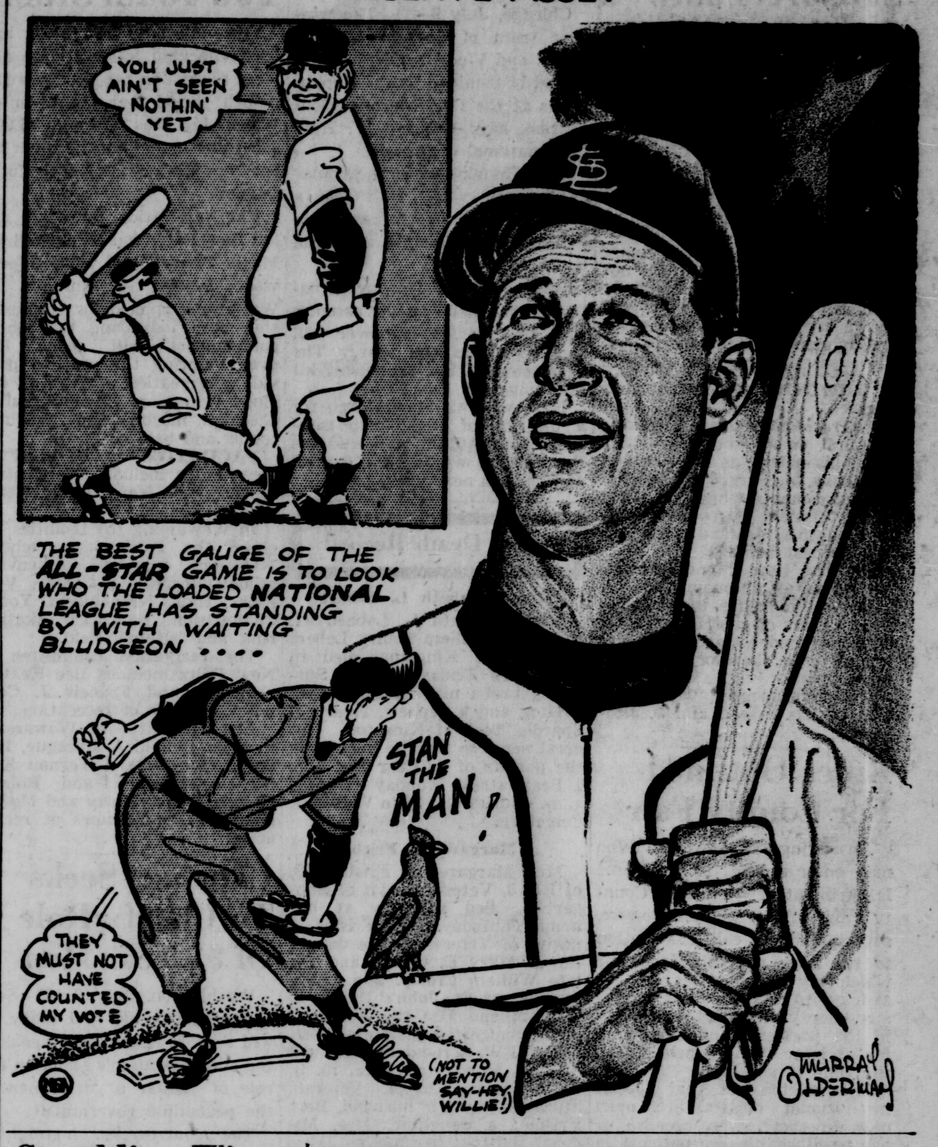

Grandin eliminated Bill Bogle of Poughkeepsie, a quarter-finalist in 1953, 1-up after beating Terry Thomas of Rochester 1-up in the fourth round.

In his second round yesterday, Grandin was 3-up after the first four holes. He then lost the 5th and 6th, won the eighth and was 2-up at the turn. Bogle took the 10th and tied it up on the 14th with a birdie 3. But Grandin made it 1-up on the 17th with a par 3 for the match as the pair halved the last hole.

Spaulding Wins $112 in State

Hod Spaulding won one of the largest prizes by a Kingston bowler in the New York State men's tournament at Elmira this year.

The localite, who finished in a tie for seventh in the singles competition with a 718 gross, collected $112.50.

Other Kingston teams and individuals who won prize money were the Jones Dairy Team Two, 2988 gross, $25; Jones Dairy Team One, 2951 2986 gross, $24; Larry Weishaupt, 656 gross, $13; Hal gross, $17; Forst Formost, Broskie, 629 gross, $6; Joe Schrowang, 614 gross, $5.

Australian Golfer Wins British Open

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 9 (AP)—Australian Peter Thomson successfully defended his British Open golf championship yesterday against a powerful international field and began thinking ahead to next year's tournament as soon as his last putt had dropped.

Until then the curly-haired, 25-year-old Aussie had kept his mind focussed entirely on his own golf game. He had to. One bad slip and he would not have been able to repeat. Thomson rolled through a rising mist on the last few fairways knowing what he had to beat and doing it.

He shot a steady 72 for a four-round total of 281 and nosed out Johnny Fallon, a Scot, by two strokes.

As Thomson walked off the final green he began making plans for next year's Open at Hoylake.

"I'll be back," he promised at a presentation ceremony in front of the baronial-looking Royal and Ancient clubhouse.

The Scots, who like a stout-hearted man, raised a cheer and successfully hid their disappointment that Fallon had not won.

To win the British Open twice is a major sporting accomplishment. To win it three times is a pinnacle of golfing achievement. The last three-timer in modern times was Bobby Locke of South Africa who took it off in 1949-50 and 1952.

The immortal Bobby Jones was another three-timer in 1926-27 and 1930. Walter Hagen took the British Open four times, in 1922, 1924, 1928-29.

Not only is the National League on its way to another season home run record, but it looks like it plans to club the poor ol' American League to death come Tuesday's All-Star game in Milwaukee.

The senior circuit clubs swatted 14 last night, giving them 66 for the last five days in the tuneup for next week's classic. With the season little more than half completed, the National now has 701.

That puts the major league record of 1,197, set only two years ago by the NL, in considerable jeopardy.

Chicago's Cubs led the way last night, pounding four while beating St. Louis 6-4 in 11 innings. Brooklyn hammered three in its come-from-behind 12-8 triumph over New York. And Milwaukee hit three in sweeping a twi-nighter from Cincinnati 4-2 and 5-3.

Only Pittsburgh and Philadelphia failed to connect. The Phils defeated the Bucs 5-1 after the Pirates had wrapped up a suspended game of May 29, 11-5.

The American League, figuring to better its 1950 record of 973 homers, hit eight for a current season total of 534. Two of them came as Baltimore ended Boston's seven-game winning streak 9-3. And Earl Torgeson swung for two three-run jobs as Detroit beat Kansas City 11-8 in 11 innings.

First place New York beat Washington 3-0 and runnerup Cleveland defeated third place Chicago 1-0.

ERNIE BANKS had two of the Cubs' homers, his second coming with one on to win the game. They were his 22nd and 23rd of the season to give the All-Star choice a league record for shortstops.

Don Zimmer, Don Hoak and Gil Hodges poked homers for the Brooks, who were down 6-0 after three innings when the Giants shelled Don Newcombe. The Dodgers scored six runs in the last three innings to win it after the Giants had resorted to seven pitchers.

The Braves' Ed Mathews hit his 22nd with a man on as Warren Spahn won his seventh in the opener. And Hank Aaron and Bobby Thomson each homered in the nightcap as Lew Burdette hung on to win despite 11 Cincinnati hits.

Baltimore also ended Frank Sullivan's seven-game winning string with Dave Philley driving in three runs with a homer and two doubles. Gus Triandos added a two-run homer. Ted Williams doubled, singled and walked twice, boosting his batting average to .413.

BOB LEMON was back in form for the Indians and became the first American League pitcher to win 12 this season. Al Rosen's pop double scored the big run off loser Billy Pierce in the first inning. The victory left the Tribe four games behind the Yanks and two up on the White Sox.

The Yankees won behind Tommy Byrne, although the Senators had a rally in the works in the seventh when rain halted the game as an official six-inning contest. An infield out and sacrifice flys by Elston Howard and Yogi Berra scored the New York runs.

Torgeson's second big blow won the game at Detroit. Al Kaline took the league lead earlier with his 19th homer. Joe DeMaestri had six consecutive singles for the A's, who had beaten the Tigers six straight.

The Phillies took the Bucs with three runs in the fifth while Herm Wehmeier allowed six hits. Pittsburgh scored three times in the eighth while the Phils scored once in both the eighth and ninth innings as the two clubs put the final 2 1/3 innings on the suspended game.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Bob Lemon, Indians, gave four hits, walked only one, before tiring and leaving after eight innings in 1-0 victory over White Sox that made him American League's first 12-game winner this season.

HITTING — Earl Torgeson, Tigers, belted his second three-run homer of game in 11th to beat Kansas City 11-8.

Giants Capture Americn Title, Down Dodger Players, 4-1

Walt Harder bested Gary Barnes in a pitching duel at the 156th Field Artillery diamond last night as Electrol Giants captured the first half championship of the American Little League. The Sprague Dodgers were on the short end of the 4-1 score.

The Dodgers finished the round only one game behind the leaders. The team had moved into a tie for first place the previous night by beating the Moose Red Sox, 9-1.

The standings:

American LL
Electrol Giants	8	1
Team	Won	Lost
Sprague Dodgers	7	2
Moose Red Sox	2	7
Lions Yankees	1	8

Harder gave up only three hits and Barnes allowed four. Both struck out nine. The winning hurler walked three and the loser two.

THE GIANTS drew first blood with a single run in the second inning. The "Jints" added three big scores in the third. The Dodgers tallied in the fourth.

Vince Meleski's double, following a walk to Don Dittus, produced the first Giant run.

Vince Smeeds singled to begin the Giants' third-inning uprising. He scooted to third on an error by the Dodger outfield.

After Tom Gardner was retired, Joe Uhl belted a double, scoring Smeeds. A throwing error allowed Uhl to score and Harder to get on base. Harder came around on Joe Fiore's hit.

A WALK to Tony Ciani, a steal of second and singles by Dave Holly and Wayne Elmendorf resulted in the Dodgers' sole score.

This rally ended when the Giants came up with a double play, Uhl snagging a popup and pegging to first in time to catch the runner.

A walk, a stolen base and a throwing error gave the Hawks a 12-11 victory over the Crows in a Jaycee Little League game last night at Forsyth Park.

The contest was a continuation of an 11-11 tie game Wednesday night which was called after the regulation six innings because of darkness.

Crows' pitcher Don Hughes struck out the side in the seventh frame. Hughes whiffed the first two men he faced in the eighth. Then he walked Dave Burns.

BURNS PILFERED second base, and when catcher Bob Wells pegged into center field, he came around to score.

Joe Burns, the Hawks' hurler, choked a brief Crows rally in the bottom of the eighth, fanning three in a row after Bill Winter had led off with a single.

Hughes' second inning home run highlighted Wednesday's tie game.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

We'd like you to meet the newest addition to the Freeman editorial staff, who will serve as assistant to the sports editor, who is the guy who occupies this space from time to time.

The name is Charles "Chuck" Nord, a native of Pawtucket, R. I., who spent most of his youth at Wappingers Falls and graduated from Wappingers Central in 1952.

While at WC, Charlie was on the varsity track squad three years, running the quarter, half mile and mile. He also played one year of varsity soccer, managed the football team two years and was boys athletic treasurer for varsity sports for two years.

Nord is a three-year veteran in the toy department of the newspaper business, all with the Poughkeepsie New Yorker, where he and George Palmateer struggled valiantly to elevate Sam Kalloch and the Poughkeepsie Pioneers to athletic preeminence in the mid-Hudson area. He is also a junior oarsman and pulls the bow oar for the Poughkeepsie Rowing Club.

Seen through the bobby socker's eye, he is slim, 20, eligible and a bit of a clothes horse. What we really like about him is that he roots for the Dodgers, glory be! Having been surrounded by Giant rooters all these years it's a pleasure to have him around. We hope you'll extend a nice Kingston welcome to him when he gets around to see you.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Joining Dick McCarthy and yours truly on the Yankee side in our editorial room is another newcomer to our staff, Albert J. Cawein of Malden. It's nice to have Al around, too. Now the Giant fans occupy only 97 per cent of the space in the building. . . . Look for Don Bisplinghoff to hit the golf big time. . . . They called him The Blister in England because they couldn't pronounce his name. . . . Don't forget the big stock show on the Rondout Sunday. . . . Commodore Joe Huber of the KPBA promises the water skiers, positively, for the 1956 regatta. . . . That annual 50 Club field day for kiddies run into volume production. Club officials estimated that the kiddies consumed 2600 Dixie cups, 500 popsicles, 160 cases of soda and 2400 hot dogs. The youngest boy traveling the longest distance to compete in the races was Anthony Aurigemma of Marlborough. Formerly a cerebral palsy victim he ran in the sprints and won a trophy.

• Of Men and Mice:

Al Giannotti of the Saugerties LL Giants cracked a league record with his ninth homer of the season. The former high of eight was held by Don Mormile. . . . Annual dinner for old and new members of the executive board of the Kingston Bowling Association will be held Thursday (July 14) at Twaalfskill. . . . The signing of Big Bob Shelightner by the New York Giants points up the Giant strangehold on mid-Hudson valley scholastic talent. In 1954 they signed Bobby Reed of Millbrook; Wilson Miller and Dan Bertolette of Arlington; Bob McKenna of Poughkeepsie and Joe Benjamin of Saugerties. Maybe Bob Maines is next. Incidentally, the battery of Maines and Shelightner will be on display tonight at the stadium. . . . Choice Murray Olderman quip: Harry Grayson's "firing" The Lip didn't surprise Frankie Frisch. The Old Flash says Grayson has been doing it every July for years.

Two Marks Set At Goshen Track

Goshen, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—The grand circuit shifts to Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, N. Y. Monday for a week of rich stakes after stars of the "Roarin' Grand" established two track records in five days of racing at Historic Track.

Childs Hanover, a leading candidate for the August 3 renewal of the Hambletonian, hung up the first mark Thursday when he trotted one heat of the Dickerson Cup—won by Scott Frost—in 2:04 3/5. That was a new mark for three-year old trotters over the half-mile oval.

Then yesterday Quick Chief from the Farmstead Acres of Brookville, N. Y. established a new standard of 2:01 for three-year old pacers in winning the Orange County Cup. He paced the second mile in 2:01 4/5. The old mark was 2:10 2/5.

Kimberly Kid from Leonard Buck's Allwood Stables of Far Hills, N. J. won the $7,000 Titan Free-For-All trot in 2:05 3/5 and 2:03 2/5.

If Mullins doesn't start for the Hilly City club, Carmen Donato or Joe Garnot are the next choices.

BOB SHELIGHTNER, recently signed by the New York Giants, will be Maines' battery mate.

Westbury, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Gene Mac rushed up on the outside with driver Clint Hodgins to take the lead just after reaching the quarter-mile mark and held command the remainder of the way to win the $7,500 Amagansett Free-For-All trot last night at Roosevelt Raceway.

Gene Mac trotted the mile and a sixteenth in 2:12 and paid $24, $9.50 and $4.70 for finishing a neck in front of Lord Steward, driven by Dick Williams. Third went to Gayleway, handled by Clyde Fisher.

Shields Wins

State Golf In Semis

Jamestown, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Two favorites who once wore the championship crown were challenged by two newcomers today as the semi-finals of the 33rd New York State Amateur golf tournament opened at the Moon Brook Country Club.

Bill Shields of Albany, 28-year-old champion in 1951 and 1952, teed off for the first 36-hole match with Bobby Hill of Rochester, a 25-year-old business student discharged from the army only two weeks ago.

Tommy Goodwin of Rye, a links veteran who won the first of his four titles in 1932 and his last as recently as 1953, was paired against Bill Grandin in Jamestown, the host club's remaining favorite.

Grandin, a 29-year-old, 220-pounder was the former country club champion at Titusville, Pa., and reached the quarter-finals in the Pennsylvania State Amateur tourney in 1952.

The opening round over the hilly 6,655-yard course began at 9:30 a. m. and the afternoon rounds at 2. Par is 36-35—71.

Hill, who plans to return to the University of Alabama for his senior year in the fall, blasted his way into the semi-finals yesterday with an easy 5 and 4 quarter-finals victory over Lyn Wilson of Buffalo. He won his earlier fourth round match with Manny Nordone of Syracuse 2 and 1.

In his match with Wilson, Hill was four under par when he closed it out on the 14th. It was his best round of the tournament.

SHIELDS EASILY whipped John Quinzi of Rochester, who won his first three rounds in extra holes, in the fourth round, 5 and 3, and then went on to squeeze by Walter Lynch Jr. of Utica, 1 up on the final green.

Knych drove into the woods on the 18th, made the green in four but rimmed the cup trying to halve the hole. Shields had a one-over-par 5 after his drive was roughed.

Goodwin advanced to the semi-finals with a 4 and 2 victory over Ronnie Terpak of Endicott, an 18-year-old high school student and a semi-finalist last year, after he won his fourth round from Ralph Yando of Poughkeepsie 2 and 1.

GOODWIN SCORED an even par on the first nine in his match against Terpak and was four up at the turn. He lost the 10th and the 13th, but holed out in a par 14th and scored a birdie 3 on the 16th to end the match.

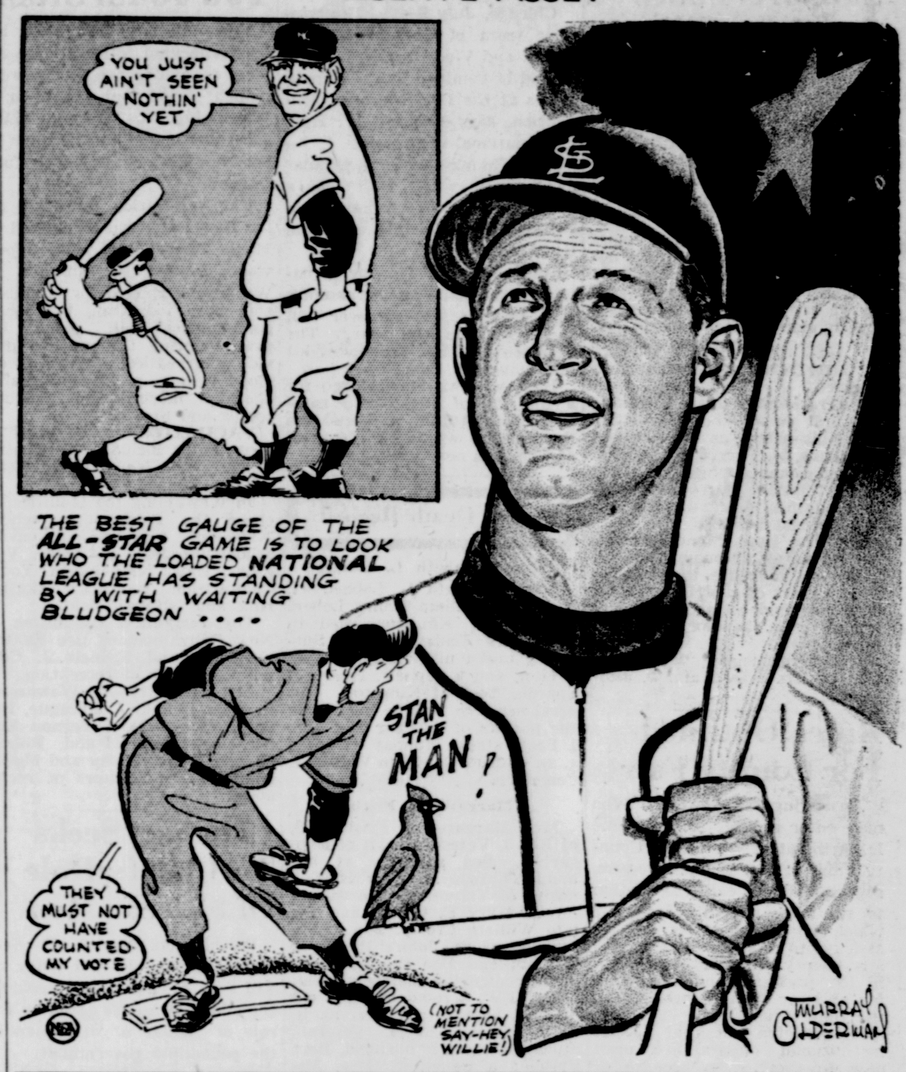

Grandin eliminated Bill Bogle of Poughkeepsie, a quarter-finalist in 1953, 1-up after beating Terry Thomas of Rochester 1-up in the fourth round.

In his second round yesterday, Grandin was 3-up after the first four holes. He then lost the 5th and 6th, won the eighth and was 2-up at the turn. Bogle took the 10th and tied it up on the 14th with a birdie 3. But Grandin made it 1-up on the 17th with a par 3 for the match as the pair halved the last hole.

Game Postponed

Tomorow's CYO League baseball game between St. Joseph's and Immaculate Conception, scheduled at Block Park, has been postponed until Sunday, July 24. The Immaculate Conception team will travel to the Polo Grounds, New York city, tomorrow to see the Giants-Dodgers game.

Australian Golfer Wins British Open

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 9 (AP)—Australian Peter Thomson successfully defended his British Open golf championship yesterday against a powerful international field and began thinking ahead to next year's tournament as soon as his last putt had dropped.

Until then the curly-haired, 25-year-old Aussie had kept his mind focussed entirely on his own golf game. He had to. One bad slip and he would not have been able to repeat. Thomson rolled through a rising mist on the last few fairways knowing what he had to beat and doing it.

He shot a steady 72 for a four-round total of 281 and nosed out Johnny Fallon, a Scot, by two strokes.

As Thomson walked off the final green he began making plans for next year's Open at Hoylake.

"I'll be back," he promised at a presentation ceremony in front of the baronial-looking Royal and Ancient clubhouse.

The Scots, who like a stout-hearted man, raised a cheer and successfully hid their disappointment that Fallon had not won.

To win the British Open twice is a major sporting accomplishment. To win it three times is a pinnacle of golfing achievement. The last three-timer in modern times was Bobby Locke of South Africa who took it off in 1949-50 and 1952.

The immortal Bobby Jones was another three-timer in 1926-27 and 1930. Walter Hagen took the British Open four times, in 1922, 1924, 1928-29.

Not only is the National League on its way to another season home run record, but it looks like it plans to club the poor ol' American League to death come Tuesday's All-Star game in Milwaukee.

The senior circuit clubs swatted 14 last night, giving them 66 for the last five days in the tuneup for next week's classic. With the season little more than half completed, the National now has 701.

That puts the major league record of 1,197, set only two years ago by the NL, in considerable jeopardy.

Chicago's Cubs led the way last night, pounding four while beating St. Louis 6-4 in 11 innings. Brooklyn hammered three in its come-from-behind 12-8 triumph over New York. And Milwaukee hit three in sweeping a twi-nighter from Cincinnati 4-2 and 5-3.

Only Pittsburgh and Philadelphia failed to connect. The Phils defeated the Bucs 5-1 after the Pirates had wrapped up a suspended game of May 29, 11-5.

The American League, figuring to better its 1950 record of 973 homers, hit eight for a current season total of 534. Two of them came as Baltimore ended Boston's seven-game winning streak 9-3. And Earl Torgeson swung for two three-run jobs as Detroit beat Kansas City 11-8 in 11 innings.

First place New York beat Washington 3-0 and runnerup Cleveland defeated third place Chicago 1-0.

ERNIE BANKS had two of the Cubs' homers, his second coming with one on to win the game. They were his 22nd and 23rd of the season to give the All-Star choice a league record for shortstops.

Don Zimmer, Don Hoak and Gil Hodges poked homers for the Brooks, who were down 6-0 after three innings when the Giants shelled Don Newcombe. The Dodgers scored six runs in the last three innings to win it after the Giants had resorted to seven pitchers.

The Braves' Ed Mathews hit his 22nd with a man on as Warren Spahn won his seventh in the opener. And Hank Aaron and Bobby Thomson each homered in the nightcap as Lew Burdette hung on to win despite 11 Cincinnati hits.

Baltimore also ended Frank Sullivan's seven-game winning string with Dave Philley driving in three runs with a homer and two doubles. Gus Triandos added a two-run homer. Ted Williams doubled, singled and walked twice, boosting his batting average to .413.

BOB LEMON was back in form for the Indians and became the first American League pitcher to win 12 this season. Al Rosen's pop double scored the big run off loser Billy Pierce in the first inning. The victory left the Tribe four games behind the Yanks and two up on the White Sox.

The Yankees won behind Tommy Byrne, although the Senators had a rally in the works in the seventh when rain halted the game as an official six-inning contest. An infield out and sacrifice flys by Elston Howard and Yogi Berra scored the New York runs.

Torgeson's second big blow won the game at Detroit. Al Kaline took the league lead earlier with his 19th homer. Joe DeMaestri had six consecutive singles for the A's, who had beaten the Tigers six straight.

The Phillies took the Bucs with three runs in the fifth while Herm Wehmeier allowed six hits. Pittsburgh scored three times in the eighth while the Phils scored once in both the eighth and ninth innings as the two clubs put the final 2 1/3 innings on the suspended game.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Bob Lemon, Indians, gave four hits, walked only one, before tiring and leaving after eight innings in 1-0 victory over White Sox that made him American League's first 12-game winner this season.

HITTING — Earl Torgeson, Tigers, belted his second three-run homer of game in 11th to beat Kansas City 11-8.

Arrest Olive Bridge Man in Uptown Mishap

Walter Palmer, 73, of Olive Bridge was arrested by police at 10:10 a. m., today on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license, following a two-car collision at the corner of Pearl and Fair streets, a police report said.

The Palmer car, a 1952 sedan, was traveling south on Pearl street, when it was in collision with a 1950 truck owned by Abram Cohen, 261 Smith avenue, and driven by Robert Stokes, 19, of 11 East Pierpont street. The truck, riding east on Fair street, was damaged on the right side, while the Palmer car sustained damage on the entire front end, police said.

Officers Edward Edwards and Gerald Every reported there were no personal injuries sustained.

Strike in 9th Day

Buffalo, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—A strike against the Niagara Frontier Transit Co. moved into its ninth day today with company and union negotiators apparently deadlocked after a revised company wage offer was turned down by the union. Binghamton Squad Gains Tie for Lead

(By The Associated Press)

The Binghamton Triplets have climbed into a tie with the Williamsport Grays for the Eastern League lead.

The Triplets pulled abreast of idle Williamsport last night by plastering three Pioneer pitchers at Elmira for 12 hits and winning handily, 11-4. Each now has a .584 percentage on 45 victories and 32 defeats.

In other games last night, Reading's Indians downed the Allentown Red Birds 7-3, and the Albany Senators walloped the Schenectady Blue Jays, 9-2.

Williamsport at Johnstown was postponed due to wet grounds.

Jim Post, fresh from Beaumont, made his first appearance for Binghamton in relief of starter Ossie Grasso in the fifth, and was the winner. First baseman John Jaciuk belted in four runs for Binghamton with two-run singles in the fifth and sixth innings.

The Indians were outhit by the Red Birds, 14-8, but made better use of their safeties. Catcher Dick Brown blasted his ninth homer of the season, in the ninth with a man aboard for Reading.

The Senators teed off against three Schenectady pitchers for 13 hits, and won the game with a five-run rally in the third.

Righthander Harry Weakley turned in a neat eight and two-thirds innings of relief for the Senators, allowing only three hits.

Reading is one game behind the leaders, Schenectady is two and a half games back and Allentown is three off the pace. Albany, Johnstown and Elmira follow far behind in that order.

Players Brawl During Contest

Columbus, Ohio, July 9 (AP)—A routine minor league baseball game nearly erupted into a first-class riot here last night as the Columbus Jets and Toronto Maple Leafs exchanged punches, dirty looks and name-calling in a wild free-for-all.

Alert intervention on the part of 11 sheriff's deputies, seven local policemen and the umpires broke up the donnybrook which involved 40 players from the two International League teams.

Toronto took the contest, 4-1, but the winner of the fisticuffs was still doubtful today. Two players, Lou Limmer, Toronto's first baseman, and Columbus pitcher Al (Dutch) Romberger, were hospitalized briefly as a result of the melee.

Reported Missing

Sgt. Arthur Reilly of the state police notified police headquarters at 2:40 p. m., Friday, of a report from the Miron Building Products Co., Inc., 60 Ferry street, that Lawrence Weishaupt, of Hurley, an employe of the company, had been missing several days. The report said he was driving a 1955 station wagon, owned by the company.

Oakland, Calif., July 9 (AP)—The injuries they suffered when Russian MIGs shot down their patrol bomber June 23 will end the active navy careers of Thaddeus Maziarz, 33, of Oakland and Edward Benko, 25, of Chicago. The navy disclosed yesterday both will get disability discharges and pensions. The men were flown here last week with five others hurt in the bomber's crash landing on St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea. Maziarz suffered burns and fractures. Benko's upper left arm was shattered.

Players Brawl During Contest

Columbus, Ohio, July 9 (AP)—A routine minor league baseball game nearly erupted into a first-class riot here last night as the Columbus Jets and Toronto Maple Leafs exchanged punches, dirty looks and name-calling in a wild free-for-all.

Alert intervention on the part of 11 sheriff's deputies, seven local policemen and the umpires broke up the donnybrook which involved 40 players from the two International League teams.

Toronto took the contest, 4-1, but the winner of the fisticuffs was still doubtful today. Two players, Lou Limmer, Toronto's first baseman, and Columbus pitcher Al (Dutch) Romberger, were hospitalized briefly as a result of the melee.

Reported Missing

Sgt. Arthur Reilly of the state police notified police headquarters at 2:40 p. m., Friday, of a report from the Miron Building Products Co., Inc., 60 Ferry street, that Lawrence Weishaupt, of Hurley, an employe of the company, had been missing several days. The report said he was driving a 1955 station wagon, owned by the company.

Laborious Theft

Detroit (AP)—Burglars broke into the Borin Transit Mixed Concrete Co. to get a heavy safe. They dragged it through an office, across yard, into a garage, and hoisted it into a company truck with a company crane. They used a crowbar to pry a chain off a gate and drove off. That took at least half the night. In the safe was an old, outdated deed to a house. That was all.

Scary Communication

Chicago (AP) — The package ticked ominously and rang at nerve-shattering intervals, so the railroad mail clerk summoned a post office inspector who sent for the police bomb squad. Sgts. Drew Brown and Frandy Grady Jr., opened the package and found a harmless battery-operated intercommunication system. They rewrapped it and sent it on.

THE SLAVE AND THE FREE—A CONTRAST—Since 1939 the Communists have been eliminating human freedom; the West has been protecting and encouraging it—and more than a billion people throughout the world know it. Since 1939, Soviet and Chinese Communists, through force or political groups, have subjected 740,216,000 people. In the same period, non-Communist powers have granted freedom and self-rule to 692,969,000 people. Diagonal shading on map shows the USSR and countries it brought under its control in 1944 and 1945 alone, tabulated at left. Cross-hatch shading shows countries, listed at bottom, to which non-Communist powers have granted freedom, sovereignty and self-rule in about the same period.

solved difficult problems in the past. It is geared to solve them in the future.

Our health department is so well and favorably known that visitors from other states and foreign lands come to Kingston to observe its efficient operation. Recent representatives came from the island of Jamaica and the Republic of Panama.

In this era of record-breaking prosperity and material well-being, we have not forgotten our fellow citizens who, because of age, infirmity, illness or disability, are unable to sustain themselves. Our well managed social welfare department gives assistance to our senior citizens and furnishes food, shelter, clothing and medical and hospital care to widows, orphans, and to the blind and disabled.

DURING THE PAST YEAR, the City Home on Flatbush avenue, which our board of supervisors had converted into 100-bed infirmary for the chronically ill, was opened and inspected by thousands of citizens. All are loud in their praise of this splendid institution. Patients who had been bed-ridden for many months were soon walking about as the result of the excellent care given to them by the infirmary staff. This fine institution will continue to serve the needs of our senior citizens who, because of circumstances beyond their control, are unable to care for themselves. This infirmary is and shall be a constant reminder that while the Republican party is interested in providing the people with good highways and other splendid services of a material nature, it does not forget those among us who need the helping hand of government in times of emergency and distress.

During the past year, the board of supervisors authorized the employment of an additional probation officer. Now the county government will be better equipped to attack the social problems of this day and age, particularly in the field of juvenile crime.

YOUR COUNTY officials are constantly studying the operation and administration and effect of the laws pertaining to domestic relations and the effect of home conditions on the children of such families. The day might well come when, in order to fully discharge our responsibility to the people who are unable to cope with their domestic problems, we shall be required to create a domestic relations court and a separate children's court. This is but one phase of the complexities of modern life.

Many other problems will arise to plague our county, city, village and town governments. We must be prepared to solve them and we shall.

WHEN THE THRUWAY is completed into metropolitan New York next year; when the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge is finished in 1956 and when the expansion of the Kingston plant of the IBM is fully attained, we in this area will begin to feel the full impact of their combined importance to our growth and development. Population, traffic and business activity will increase.

I have said this before and wish to emphasize it again: It is my duty as your leader, and it is the duty of all public officials in this county, to re-appraise our governmental structures and services, our resources and methods, our policies and procedures, so that we may find better ways to serve the needs of our people in the face of the expansion, changes and growth which happily seem to be in store for us in Ulster county.

IN LINE WITH such self-examination, the board of supervisors and the county highway department are studying the problem of replacing with modern structures the obsolete and antiquated bridges which still remain as part of our county highway system and which are no longer adequate for carrying modern volumes of traffic.

The board of supervisors has also authorized a study for the proper housing of our highway department. The county garage on Gage street is bulging at the seams. The department has equipment, materials and supplies stored in many places. The county is spending thousands of dollars for watchmen to protect this county property at these scattered locations.

The Gage street property should be sold and put back on the tax rolls. To meet modern day conditions, the plant of our highway department should be centralized, enlarged and relocated on county-owned land on the East Chester street by-pass.

A COMMITTEE of the board of supervisors is having changes and revisions made in the basic plan for the new county office building which will be located on county-owned land near the new infirmary.

The building will be four stories high, with basements for extra storage of records. It will be fireproof and air-conditioned. The first floor will accommodate the Motor Vehicle Bureau, county clerk and surrogate. The building will be serviced by two elevators. There will be parking space for 500 cars. The Motor Vehicle Bureau will be so planned that when the annual rush is on for auto plates, applicants will be able to stand inside and out of the weather. In addition, the office will be so arranged that waiting in line will be reduced to a minimum. In other words, the building will be planned as an efficient workshop for county officials and employes. It will also serve the convenience and comfort of the people who have business to transact with the various departments of our county government.

THE QUESTION will eventualy arise as to what disposition to make of the county buildings which will be vacated when the office building is completed. The county clerk's office, the motor vehicle and health department buildings on Main street, and the surrogate's court and public welfare buildings on Fair street may either be sold or demolished and the space utilized for off-street parking. It has been suggested that a multi-story parking facility, financed and operated by some municipal parking authority, be constructed on the vacant land. It is, of course, the responsibility of government to regulate traffic and to provide parking facilities so that residents of the county may come to the county-seat to transact their business expeditiously, conveniently and in comfort. It is also the duty of government to get back on the tax rolls property which it abandons. The right solution to this problem will require much thought and study. I am sure that our public officials will eventually come up with the right answer.

This year we will again nominate and elect members of the board of supervisors.

I ask all you delegates to this convention to do your part in getting your friends and neighbors to vote for our Republican candidates. Only by electing Republicans to public office can they be sure of continuing the sound, progressive government which we Republicans have given to the people of this county for many years.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY of Ulster county learned long ago that giving the people good government is the best kind of politics that can be played. Those who have lived here know this. That's why we have so many enrolled Republicans in this county.

Now we must ask and encourage others to enroll as Republicans.

We are fortunate in having many new families moving into Kingston and Ulster county. The Republican party welcomes and invites them to join with us and enroll as Republicans.

YOU AND I, as active Republican workers, have the obligation and duty of acquainting these welcome newcomers with the record of our party. Let them know that we stand for sound, honest, humane and progressive, yet economical government. Tell them why our kind of government has gained the confidence of our people. Take them to the polls and assist them to enroll. Then urge them to attend our party caucuses and help select our candidates for public office and then help to elect those candidates and otherwise participate in our political affairs. Extend to these newcomers the hand of friendship and brotherly love. Make it clear to them that we welcome them as neighbors and fellow-workers in the cause of good government.

In the city of Kingston, we will this year elect a mayor, alderman-at-large and members of the Common Council, as well as supervisors.

While it is true that Mayor Stang will be a strong and formidable candidate for reelection, let me remind you that nothing can be taken for granted in politics and that no worthwhile victory can be won without hard work and effort.

I shall expect every Republican committeeman and worker to begin to work for Republican success during every day and night from now until election.

FRED STANG is a fine, gentle, modest, patient man. But he is also resourceful and hard-working. He has vision and imagination. He has a head on his shoulders and he uses it. He is serious minded and has dedicated himself to his city and his people. Since his election in 1953, he has made many friends and few enemies. And he deserves the friends he has made because of his good works.

One of Mayor Stang's most popular actions was the establishment of the bathing beach at Kingston Point. It provides healthful and enjoyable bathing privileges each summer for thousands, both young and old. During the past winter, he provided outdoor skating rinks at Kingman Park and Strubel's pond, with lights, music and attendants.

A few days ago, the enlarged zoo, with many new and interesting birds and animals, was formally opened in Forsyth Park. It has attracted thousands of visitors. This is another important Stang accomplishment.

Mayor Stang is sponsoring a street lighting improvement program which has also met with popular approval and plans are now being made for off-street parking.

THE RESIDENTS of the 13th ward and especially those living near upper Wilbur avenue owe Mayor Stang a vote of thanks for the splendid manner in which he has transformed the Wilbur avenue disposal area from a smelly, smoking dump to an inoffensive land-filled area. He is constantly working to improve city services and is planning further public improvements, including the elimination of the traffic bottle-neck represented by the obsolete Washington avenue viaduct.

Mayor Stang is a good administrator. He is also an able public speaker. When, in his role as mayor and our civic leader, he speaks on any occasion, his dignity, eloquence and humor reflect credit on our city. It gives us every reason to be proud of him. I sincerely hope that he will be renominated at the city convention and overwhelmingly elected in November.

I shall expect all of you from the city to work long and hard for his re-election and for the election of our entire Republican ticket.

Now, as we prepare to transact the further business of this convention, let me emphasize that the candidates you are about to nominate are of your own choosing.

YOU HAVE BEEN elected by the enrolled Republicans of your districts to represent them at this convention. It is now your responsibility as delegates to nominate the candidates of your choice. It shall later become the responsibility of the Republican county organization to go out into the highways and the byways and make sure that such candidates are elected by an overwhelming vote.

If you do your part here today, I am sure that our committeemen and other party workers will do their part well on Election Day.

Party responsibility and party performance transcends personalities.

Every voter may not know the individuals whose names appear on the ballot under the Republican label. Voters do know, however, what the Republican party has accomplished and what it stands for in this county.

In Ulster county, the people know that the Republican party label is a good brand to buy, because it has been tried and tested and approved.

It stands for good government, soundly and honestly administered, serving all the people, and at a cost they can afford to pay.

Laborious Theft

Detroit (AP)—Burglars broke into the Borin Transit Mixed Concrete Co. to get a heavy safe. They dragged it through an office, across yard, into a garage, and hoisted it into a company truck with a company crane. They used a crowbar to pry a chain off a gate and drove off. That took at least half the night. In the safe was an old, outdated deed to a house. That was all.

Scary Communication

Chicago (AP) — The package ticked ominously and rang at nerve-shattering intervals, so the railroad mail clerk summoned a post office inspector who sent for the police bomb squad. Sgts. Drew Brown and Frandy Grady Jr., opened the package and found a harmless battery-operated intercommunication system. They rewrapped it and sent it on.

THE SLAVE AND THE FREE—A CONTRAST—Since 1939 the Communists have been eliminating human freedom; the West has been protecting and encouraging it—and more than a billion people throughout the world know it. Since 1939, Soviet and Chinese Communists, through force or political groups, have subjected 740,216,000 people. In the same period, non-Communist powers have granted freedom and self-rule to 692,969,000 people. Diagonal shading on map shows the USSR and countries it brought under its control in 1944 and 1945 alone, tabulated at left. Cross-hatch shading shows countries, listed at bottom, to which non-Communist powers have granted freedom, sovereignty and self-rule in about the same period.

solved difficult problems in the past. It is geared to solve them in the future.

Our health department is so well and favorably known that visitors from other states and foreign lands come to Kingston to observe its efficient operation. Recent representatives came from the island of Jamaica and the Republic of Panama.

In this era of record-breaking prosperity and material well-being, we have not forgotten our fellow citizens who, because of age, infirmity, illness or disability, are unable to sustain themselves. Our well managed social welfare department gives assistance to our senior citizens and furnishes food, shelter, clothing and medical and hospital care to widows, orphans, and to the blind and disabled.

DURING THE PAST YEAR, the City Home on Flatbush avenue, which our board of supervisors had converted into 100-bed infirmary for the chronically ill, was opened and inspected by thousands of citizens. All are loud in their praise of this splendid institution. Patients who had been bed-ridden for many months were soon walking about as the result of the excellent care given to them by the infirmary staff. This fine institution will continue to serve the needs of our senior citizens who, because of circumstances beyond their control, are unable to care for themselves. This infirmary is and shall be a constant reminder that while the Republican party is interested in providing the people with good highways and other splendid services of a material nature, it does not forget those among us who need the helping hand of government in times of emergency and distress.

During the past year, the board of supervisors authorized the employment of an additional probation officer. Now the county government will be better equipped to attack the social problems of this day and age, particularly in the field of juvenile crime.

YOUR COUNTY officials are constantly studying the operation and administration and effect of the laws pertaining to domestic relations and the effect of home conditions on the children of such families. The day might well come when, in order to fully discharge our responsibility to the people who are unable to cope with their domestic problems, we shall be required to create a domestic relations court and a separate children's court. This is but one phase of the complexities of modern life.

Many other problems will arise to plague our county, city, village and town governments. We must be prepared to solve them and we shall.

WHEN THE THRUWAY is completed into metropolitan New York next year; when the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge is finished in 1956 and when the expansion of the Kingston plant of the IBM is fully attained, we in this area will begin to feel the full impact of their combined importance to our growth and development. Population, traffic and business activity will increase.

I have said this before and wish to emphasize it again: It is my duty as your leader, and it is the duty of all public officials in this county, to re-appraise our governmental structures and services, our resources and methods, our policies and procedures, so that we may find better ways to serve the needs of our people in the face of the expansion, changes and growth which happily seem to be in store for us in Ulster county.

IN LINE WITH such self-examination, the board of supervisors and the county highway department are studying the problem of replacing with modern structures the obsolete and antiquated bridges which still remain as part of our county highway system and which are no longer adequate for carrying modern volumes of traffic.

The board of supervisors has also authorized a study for the proper housing of our highway department. The county garage on Gage street is bulging at the seams. The department has equipment, materials and supplies stored in many places. The county is spending thousands of dollars for watchmen to protect this county property at these scattered locations.

The Gage street property should be sold and put back on the tax rolls. To meet modern day conditions, the plant of our highway department should be centralized, enlarged and relocated on county-owned land on the East Chester street by-pass.

A COMMITTEE of the board of supervisors is having changes and revisions made in the basic plan for the new county office building which will be located on county-owned land near the new infirmary.

The building will be four stories high, with basements for extra storage of records. It will be fireproof and air-conditioned. The first floor will accommodate the Motor Vehicle Bureau, county clerk and surrogate. The building will be serviced by two elevators. There will be parking space for 500 cars. The Motor Vehicle Bureau will be so planned that when the annual rush is on for auto plates, applicants will be able to stand inside and out of the weather. In addition, the office will be so arranged that waiting in line will be reduced to a minimum. In other words, the building will be planned as an efficient workshop for county officials and employes. It will also serve the convenience and comfort of the people who have business to transact with the various departments of our county government.

THE QUESTION will eventualy arise as to what disposition to make of the county buildings which will be vacated when the office building is completed. The county clerk's office, the motor vehicle and health department buildings on Main street, and the surrogate's court and public welfare buildings on Fair street may either be sold or demolished and the space utilized for off-street parking. It has been suggested that a multi-story parking facility, financed and operated by some municipal parking authority, be constructed on the vacant land. It is, of course, the responsibility of government to regulate traffic and to provide parking facilities so that residents of the county may come to the county-seat to transact their business expeditiously, conveniently and in comfort. It is also the duty of government to get back on the tax rolls property which it abandons. The right solution to this problem will require much thought and study. I am sure that our public officials will eventually come up with the right answer.

This year we will again nominate and elect members of the board of supervisors.

I ask all you delegates to this convention to do your part in getting your friends and neighbors to vote for our Republican candidates. Only by electing Republicans to public office can they be sure of continuing the sound, progressive government which we Republicans have given to the people of this county for many years.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY of Ulster county learned long ago that giving the people good government is the best kind of politics that can be played. Those who have lived here know this. That's why we have so many enrolled Republicans in this county.

Now we must ask and encourage others to enroll as Republicans.

We are fortunate in having many new families moving into Kingston and Ulster county. The Republican party welcomes and invites them to join with us and enroll as Republicans.

YOU AND I, as active Republican workers, have the obligation and duty of acquainting these welcome newcomers with the record of our party. Let them know that we stand for sound, honest, humane and progressive, yet economical government. Tell them why our kind of government has gained the confidence of our people. Take them to the polls and assist them to enroll. Then urge them to attend our party caucuses and help select our candidates for public office and then help to elect those candidates and otherwise participate in our political affairs. Extend to these newcomers the hand of friendship and brotherly love. Make it clear to them that we welcome them as neighbors and fellow-workers in the cause of good government.

In the city of Kingston, we will this year elect a mayor, alderman-at-large and members of the Common Council, as well as supervisors.

While it is true that Mayor Stang will be a strong and formidable candidate for reelection, let me remind you that nothing can be taken for granted in politics and that no worthwhile victory can be won without hard work and effort.

I shall expect every Republican committeeman and worker to begin to work for Republican success during every day and night from now until election.

FRED STANG is a fine, gentle, modest, patient man. But he is also resourceful and hard-working. He has vision and imagination. He has a head on his shoulders and he uses it. He is serious minded and has dedicated himself to his city and his people. Since his election in 1953, he has made many friends and few enemies. And he deserves the friends he has made because of his good works.

One of Mayor Stang's most popular actions was the establishment of the bathing beach at Kingston Point. It provides healthful and enjoyable bathing privileges each summer for thousands, both young and old. During the past winter, he provided outdoor skating rinks at Kingman Park and Strubel's pond, with lights, music and attendants.

A few days ago, the enlarged zoo, with many new and interesting birds and animals, was formally opened in Forsyth Park. It has attracted thousands of visitors. This is another important Stang accomplishment.

Mayor Stang is sponsoring a street lighting improvement program which has also met with popular approval and plans are now being made for off-street parking.

THE RESIDENTS of the 13th ward and especially those living near upper Wilbur avenue owe Mayor Stang a vote of thanks for the splendid manner in which he has transformed the Wilbur avenue disposal area from a smelly, smoking dump to an inoffensive land-filled area. He is constantly working to improve city services and is planning further public improvements, including the elimination of the traffic bottle-neck represented by the obsolete Washington avenue viaduct.

Mayor Stang is a good administrator. He is also an able public speaker. When, in his role as mayor and our civic leader, he speaks on any occasion, his dignity, eloquence and humor reflect credit on our city. It gives us every reason to be proud of him. I sincerely hope that he will be renominated at the city convention and overwhelmingly elected in November.

I shall expect all of you from the city to work long and hard for his re-election and for the election of our entire Republican ticket.

Now, as we prepare to transact the further business of this convention, let me emphasize that the candidates you are about to nominate are of your own choosing.

YOU HAVE BEEN elected by the enrolled Republicans of your districts to represent them at this convention. It is now your responsibility as delegates to nominate the candidates of your choice. It shall later become the responsibility of the Republican county organization to go out into the highways and the byways and make sure that such candidates are elected by an overwhelming vote.

If you do your part here today, I am sure that our committeemen and other party workers will do their part well on Election Day.

Party responsibility and party performance transcends personalities.

Every voter may not know the individuals whose names appear on the ballot under the Republican label. Voters do know, however, what the Republican party has accomplished and what it stands for in this county.

In Ulster county, the people know that the Republican party label is a good brand to buy, because it has been tried and tested and approved.

It stands for good government, soundly and honestly administered, serving all the people, and at a cost they can afford to pay.

There are 237 eclipses of the sun or moon in the average century.

Digest Slayers May Get Chair Tonight

Ossining, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Three men convicted of murdering a Readers Digest messenger are scheduled to die in Sing Sing prison's electric chair tonight, 4½ years after they entered the death house.

The executions of Harry Stein, 56, and Nathan Wissner, 49, and Calman Cooper, 47, were put off a number of times by a long chain of court actions and appeals. Last minute efforts to spare the three again failed yesterday when two Supreme Court justices denied a stay of execution.

Justice Hugo Black rejected the plea first. Then Defense Attorney Nathan Kestnbaum, of New York, appealed to Justice Felix Frankfurter, who also turned him down.
